MRS. COOLIDGE BETTER

Superior Eager to Welcome Presidential Party to Northern WisconsinAboard President Coolidge's Special train en route to Superior, Wis.—(AP) —After a comfortable night on the train President and Mrs. Coolidge woke up Thursday to a rainy and misty morning while racing through the central states on their way to the summer White House in Wisconsin.Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were reported by Col. James F. Coupal, White House physician, as much rested. Mrs. Coolidge had apparently suffered no ill from the trip of although the physician recommended that she stay in bed all day. This, he said, was urged more for mere precaution than for any medical reason.
Mrs. Coolidge's condition rendered it necessary.Her spirits were as high as when she left Washington Wednesday night and her lack of temperature and good appetite made Col. Coupal confident that she was well on the way to complete recovery. The president's position which obliged a two-day postponement of the journey west.Newspapers were deposited on the special train at the stops it made for supplies and fuel, and President Coolidge obtained the latest developments at the Kansas City convention. Later, the proceedings of the Republican conclave were broadcast. Mr.
Coolidge had available a radio set installed on his special car to keep in more direct contact with outside events.Through the radio the chief executive expected to learn Thursday of the Republican nominees for the presidential race next November.Superior—(AP)—Electricity by the news that President and Mrs. Coolidge are actually on their way to the summer White House in Wisconsin.
er, northwestern Wisconsin Thursday sprang into feverish activity making final preparations for their reception and comfort during the summer months.Decorations along the 39 mile route from Cedar Rapids to Superior, Minn., given final adjustments. Flags and tri-colors were hung along Superior streets while welcome signs and rustic arches were ready to announce the greeting of outlying districts and villages along the road.Preparations for the largest police force in the history of the city were made officers from Milwaukee, St.
Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth augmenting the full Superior squad.Members of the American Legion and Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, the of Superiors and residents of nearby towns were preparing to line the city streets early Friday morning to be sure to get a glimpse of the chief executive on his way to the summer White House.Telegraph operators have been pouring into the city for the last two days, ready to send over newly installed wires the first large volley of news which is expected to be fired Friday morning.The departure of the presidential party from Washington occurred with out special ceremony. Mr. Coolidge was reported as having indicated that, owing largely to Mrs. Coolidge's condition, he would prefer that the cus-tary farewells from cabinet officers and other officials at the station be dispensed with. Secretary Hoover, however, had called at the White House earlier in the day to say goodbye.

MRS. COOLIDGE STRONGER

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge left the White House for the station almost three hours before the scheduled departure of the train. Mrs. Coolidge was strong enough to walk alone without even the help of Mr. Coolidge's arm, and alone she entered the car. To onlookers she appeared cheerful, smiling to those few who happened to be along their path in the station.The special car had been placed in the silence and darkness of a re-his entourage.The paper said the pontiff refused to summon a doctor.The paper added that the pope had

REAL LESSON
IN EFFICIENCYHad as Efficient a Pre-convention Organization as Politics Has Ever SeenKansas City, Mo.—Eight years ago a little band of men, faithful to the man they called "The Chief" went to the Republican convention in Chicago and when all their efforts, the delegates cast nine and one half votes for Herbert Hoover. The loyal group couldn't understand it. Practical politicians smiled at the amateurishness of it. And the Hoover men said by law the light—without the aid of their regular political organizations nothing could be done even if their hero had public sentiment with him.But in the eight years since that same Hoover group have learned something. And today they are smiling at the discomfiture of the practical politicians. For about as efficient a pre-convention organization as national politics has seen in this generation was in operation and by reason of an intensified public sentiment in various pivotal states, the Hoover people have the delegates—north, east, south and west—and plus the delegates were some powerful organization leaders who had seen the handwriting on the wall. The old guard came to Kansas City, looked over the Hoover claims, checked up lists state by state and came to the conclusion that he had the delegates—or at least so close to a majority that it would be an easy matter for one or two states to break and assure enough to win.How did they get the delegates?
Well, the Hoover managers didn't like the way that southern delegates are usually obtained but they had in their own ranks men who went after them just the same. If that was the method by which practical politicians oper-

WAUKESHA TO DECIDE

their disposal whether operators of dog race tracks in the county are violating or evading the state gambling laws, the attorney general is informing Herman Salen, district at-disposal of the state legal department, and it can only act in interpreting the law.Mr. Salen had informed the attorney general that, in his opinion, the "refund" system of betting in use at the tracks is a violation, or, at least, an evading of the gambling statutes. The legal department's reply said that if Mr. Salen is convinced that the law is being violated, it is his duty to commence criminal proceedings to stop such violations.Hoople, Reminded Of Home,

Kansas City, Mo.—Egad, folks, I am a weary and befuddled today.
I was up all night engaged in a heated controversy over the credential committee with a group of delegates.
At one point in the debate I held three aces and a pair of kings, confidently, I—d— you will pardon me if my mind wanders from the subject due to loss of sleep. What I meant to say was that I held the delegates spell bound with my thorough knowledge of the present agricultural situation.By, Jove, it is amazing, the lack of perception the average layman has of farming. Great Caesar, those gentlemen thought hominy grew as a vegetable, d— and were abashed at their ignorance when I corrected them that hominy was nothing more than an albino berry growing on trees.
My word, and these men nominate a presidential candidate. Hm—M—Here in the convention hall I had the first sleep in the last twenty-fourhours. Senator Fess made an emphatic request that henceforth everybody be in their seats promptly at the appointed hour—five minutes later he announced that the credential committee were delayed, d— and were that were all there on time were kept waiting for an hour more. Egad—promptness has always been a virtue with me. (except paying debts—editors note).The session finally started with Mrs.
Willebrandt reading the credentials of delegate elections. She spent some time reading the state convention results of Florida delegates that took place in the dining room of the Williams hotel at Daytona.The Williams hotel dining room was mentioned in this reading a score of times and as it was noon, ten thousand people in the convention hall wished they were in the dining hall of the Williams hotel right then.Mr. Willebrandt resumed her reading and the sound of a woman's voice was heard.

asked by a congressional committee.Stewart maintained the questions asked last February by the commit-would have in their own state.Senator John J. Blaine has a strong trend toward Governor Al Smith if Hoover is the nominee. Many Wis-

REJECT BADGER PLATFORM READ BY LA FOLLETTE

Young Bob Cheered as He Asks Equalization Fee in Minority Report

Convention Hall, Kansas City—(P)—Before the Republican national convention the platform of Wisconsin Progressives was laid Thursday morning by Senator Robert M. La Follette and after the crowded hall had given the son of "Fighting Bob" an ovation, the proposals were promptly rejected. Four years ago at the Cleveland convention, the minority report on the platform was presented by Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, one of the oldest members of the congress. La Follette, in a brief introduction speech, said Wisconsin always had sent a Progressive delegation to the national conventions and always presented a minority platform. La Follette declared that while the first of the platforms Wisconsin offered had been hissed and jeered in the convention, 32 of the 35 proposals which had been made had been written into law. This brought a whooping cheer from some sections of the convention. The young senator read his minority platform with vigorous gestures and in a clear, strong voice. He got a real cheer from the galleries and some of the delegates when he read his proposed farm relief plank which declared for the equalization fee. Then the senator declared that the president had prevented the McNary-Haugen bill from becoming a law by veto, many of the delegates cheered, the Massachusetts delegation in the front row the platform, leading in the cheering.

La Follette bowed and smiled at the cheering delegates and then took a drink of water. When the applause ceased, he said: "Ladies and gentlemen, it is so unusual for a delegates from Wisconsin to be cheered in a Republican national convention, that I thank you."

"You're all right, Bob," Chairman Moses said to his senate colleague. The La Follette proposal for modification of the Volstead act got only a scattering of applause.

The senator finished reading at one minute past 12 o'clock after holding the convention only 25 minutes. He announced that the member on the resolution committee from North Dakota approved the platform except for its prohibition declaration.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the convention, I thank you for your kind and courteous attention," La Follette said and he was applauded and cheered for nearly a minute.

The La Follette substitute then was promptly rejected.

CONGRESSMAN AGAIN ENDORSED BY LABOR

Trades Council Elects Fred Bachman Delegate to State Meet

Congressman George J. Schneider, who is seeking reelection to congress from the Ninth district was given the unanimous endorsement of Appleton Trades and Labor council at its meeting Wednesday evening. The local organization is believed to be the first group in the district to endorse the congressman for reelection.

The council also voted to send Fred Bachman, president, to the state federation of labor convention at Kenosha, July 17. R. Duffner was appointed alternate.

Adolph Guyer, the trades and labor member of the Civic council, read a report on the activities of the organization on which he was serving. Union members also were asked.

NEENAH MAN DIES OF ACCIDENT INJURIES

Neenah—Herman Bahr, 72, died at Theda Clinic hospital here Thursday afternoon from injuries received last Saturday afternoon in an automobile accident on Highway 41 two miles west of here. Seven persons were injured in the accident but the others have recovered or are out of danger. The accident occurred front of the Bahr home when Mr. Bahr, approaching from the west, turned into the driveway directly in front of an automobile driven by a Chicago man.

Surviving are the widow and seven children. They are Mrs. Laura Foth, Mrs. George Danke, Albert Bahr and Mrs. Peter Jung, Neenah; Mrs. Gordon Blodgett, Milwaukee; Mrs. E. Kal-sur, Picketts; Mrs. J. H. Owens, Lena. He had been a resident of the town of Neenah for 40 years.

COUNCILMEN PUT O. K. ON ZONING ORDINANCE

The proposed zoning ordinance, which has been before the city council on numerous occasions was finally passed at the adjourned session Wednesday night. Amendments have been made from time to time since the ordinance was first prepared but was finally adopted after three changes, recommended by the ordinance committee, were sanctioned.

LOOTING, CARNAGE IN CHINESE CITY

Tientsin Scene of Disorders After Surrender to North-erners

London—(P)—A Tientsin dispatch to the Evening News says that that city was the scene of terrible looting and carnage Wednesday night in disorders carried on by gunmen following the surrender of the city by the Northerners.

The streets and the river Pei-Ho were strewn with dead and the feeling in Tientsin was reported to be one of a repetition of the outrages.

The thorough defense plans of the foreign concessions worked out excellently, but many bullets fired in the shooting and looting outside fell in the foreign compounds.

In the Chinese city men and women were shot mercilessly. Armed men in all kinds of quasi-military clothes killed and looted generally.

London—(P)—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Tokyo says that an attempt was made to assassinate Prince Kuni, father of the present emperor during his visit to Formosa, on May 14. This was learned when the press ban on news of the attempt was lifted Thursday.

TRY TO KILL PRINCE

The dispatch stated that a Korean named Prince Kuni's automobile and hurried a dagger. The prince was not injured.

Otsunoshima Yamakami, governor general of Formosa, came to Tokyo and resigned, assuming responsibility for the incident.

ASK FOR SYMPATHY

Peking—(P)—General Paichung Hsi, the terror of communists at Shanghai and Hankow, who took possession of the Yang Tu Ting's palace here Wednesday, Thursday asked the friendly sympathy of foreign powers for the Nationalist government, which he said, faced bravely the difficult task of eradicating communism from China. Paichung Hsi, who executed nearly 20,000 communists in the southern cities, declared that the rest of the world does not realize that the Kuomintang is now the staunch bulwark against the spread of communism over the far east.

POWER COMPANY WILL APPEAL APPRAISALS

Attorneys for the Wisconsin Public Service company have advised Fred V. Heinemann, county judge, that they are dissatisfied with the findings of the board selected to appraise damages to property on which the power line will set poles, and intend to appeal to circuit court.

The appraisers decided last week that $300 a pole was a reasonable fee for damages sustained by farmers over whose land the proposed line will run. Members of the board of appraisers were A. W. Laabs and Herman Wickert, Appleton and Mike Mack, Shiocton.

LETTER GOLF

ONE FOR VACATION

Vacation time is here, and with it TIME TO LOAF, which is just what today's letter golf puzzle is about. Par is six, so you haven't much time to loaf if you are going to shoot par. One solution is on page 2.

T	I	M	E
L	O	A	F

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

Hoople, Reminded Of Home, Sleeps During Convention

talking incessantly reminded me of home, so I resumed my sleep, Egad—

What took place from then on you can learn from some other, less reliable source. Whatever was going on caused me to be awakened by a loud roll call sound of the name of Alabama. By Jove, my first thought of the loud Alabama was that Al. Tolson was in the audience and started singing a mammy song. It proved to be the chairman calling a state roll call on something and I hoped it was an adjournment for lunch, Egad. The last place of business was an honorary escort of the new G. O. P. chairman, Senator Moses, to the platform. As both my feet were in a form of paralysis from sleep, I could not arise and make the honorary escort complete.

The new chairman was bitter in his speech against the Tammy Tiger and challenged a battle between the Tiger and the G. O. P. elephant. Having hunted many a tiger in India astride an elephant, Senator Moses can find no one better versed in that form of excitement than myself, Egad.

At 7 p. m. somebody in the New York delegation stood up and requested an adjournment which was granted and if I had my say, he would be nominated, Egad.

COUNTY SPENDS $1,556 FOR GASOLINE STATION

NON SUPPORT CHARGE DISMISSED BY JUDGE

Ray Van Gompel, charged with failing to support his wife, had his case dismissed by Judge Berg in municipal court Thursday morning, when the judge decided there was no evidence that Van Gompel had failed to provide for her. Testimony showed the chief reason Van Gompel's wife had preferred charges against him was she was afraid he would leave the state. The judge ordered the defendant to turn back half of his savings account over to his wife's name and take care of her.

Annual Picnic to Be Conducted Especially for Occupants of Soldiers Home

An elaborate program is being arranged by members of the 120th Field Artillery band for the annual band picnic at the Wisconsin Veterans Home, Waupaca, July 1. The picnic is to be conducted especially for occupants of the soldier's home. People from Appleton, New London, Waupaca, and other cities near Waupaca, are expected to attend according to E. F. Mumm, director of the band. Eight rifle companies and two artillery units of the Wisconsin National guard will present a guard mount and sham battle as part of the afternoon's program. Three bands, including the 120th field artillery, will play throughout the day. The Appleton Elks club is to sponsor a display of fireworks in the evening, according to Mr. Mumm. People who intend to attend the picnic and have extra room in their cars are asked to communicate with Mr. Mumm.

WANT MEDICAL AID TO HALT EUGENICS ROMANCE

Berlin —(AP)— That the ways of eugenics are beset with pitfalls, was demonstrated by the following letter to a physician of Berlin which was published in "Die Medizinische Welt." "Dear Doctor: Kindly forgive me for troubling you, but I have heard that a Miss . . . intends calling on you today to inform herself about my state of health. Should this really be so, you would greatly oblige me by telling her that I am suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, have a valvular disease of the heart and am utterly unfit to marry. On my next visit to you I shall take occasion of expressing my gratitude for this courtesy with 10 marks ($2.50)."

OPPORTUNITY AWAITS TODAY'S YOUTH, HOLT TELLS NEENAH GRADS

Registrar of the University of Wisconsin Is Speaker at Commencement

Neenah—"Youth and the Modern World," was the subject of the address given Wednesday evening by F. O. Holt, registrar at the University of Wisconsin, to the class of 1928 before an audience which packed the Neenah theatre. The speaker talked on advancement in the world with which the younger generation is thrown into and which, to the older ones, seem strange.

He told of how the rising generation should be proud of the education and educational facilities offered them as compared to those of earlier days, and how parents are doing much to give the children a better chance to do things than they had. He claimed that the American spirit is manifested in the growing child, raised each year in more modern surroundings, with more things to occupy the mind. The children of today, in his estimation, and he has a chance to get in pretty close touch with the boys and girls, 9,000 and more of them at the University, are finer, cleaner and more wholesome, than when he was a student.

"We live," he claimed, "in a totally different world and we cannot understand the youth. I was a senior in high school when I made my first visit to Milwaukee. It was a great day. Now days, our children are not in the least interested to go to a big city and in many cases would rather be left at home; but mention going to Milwaukee for a lunch party and the question is different. Anything is possible in this age, an age of tested thoughts."

He told of Col. Charles Lindbergh, as a student at Wisconsin, how he had one thing uppermost in his mind and that was flying and with the carrying out of his pet idea, he made himself a hero over night. He studied the situation, the hazards in crossing the sea, but he made the trip right to the point.

He spoke of teachers who had the student at heart in an effort to make him fit to meet the projects in life and business. The student must have those things uppermost in his mind in order to carry the teachings to success, he said.

The class of 68 students marched to the stage from the rear of the theatre and took their places upon raised platforms upon the stage which were decorated with flowers, the colored gowns of the young women and the light clothing of the young men, were made more attractive by colored lights used on the stage.

Miss Adelaide Merkle gave the salutatory and Miss Lucille Ozzane, the valedictory. Music for the occasion was furnished by the high school orchestra and violin solos by Miss Roberta Lanouette of Lawrence college.

C. F. Hedges, superintendent of schools, in presenting the diplomas as the group left the stage, gave a short talk on the requirements demanded to make one a success.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Mrs. J. Cyril Hyland entertained a group of young women Wednesday evening at her home at Menasha, for Miss Sylvia Sorenson of Neenah, who, on June 30, is to be married to Sylvester Hahn, Menasha. The evening was spent in cards. Prizes in bridge were won by Virginia Rausch, Marilyn Eysen and Mrs. Anton Jensen, and in hearts by Alvina Hahn and Ethel Sorenson.

Mrs. Henry Oelfke entertained a group of women Wednesday evening at her home on First-st, for Mrs. Charles Relyea and Mrs. Grace Pankratz of New York, who are visiting here. The time was spent in playing, schafkopf. Prizes were won by Miss Kate Patzel, Mrs. Joseph Heup, Mrs. Sylvester Heup and Mrs. George Krause.

POLITICS ARE GETTING WARM IN WINNEBAGO-C

Neenah—A. C. McHenry, form mayor of Oshkosh, who later practiced law at Milwaukee, has announced his intentions of running for the office of Winnebago county attorney as an opponent of Frank E. Keefe, present district attorney and candidate for reelection. W. H. Babcock is out for the office of register of deeds.

In order to accommodate our customers that cannot shop during the day we will keep our store open on Saturday nights, as usual. Store closed on Friday nights.—J. C. Penny Co.

TWIN CITY FOLKS GIVE FLOWERS TO THEIR HOSPITAL

Residents of Neenah and Menasha are invited to offer flowers for patients confined in Theda Clark hospital to be picked up by Appleton Post-Crescent Flower Cars beginning Saturday, June 2, and every Saturday until the end of the flower season next fall.

Persons who will have flowers for the hospital are invited to leave their names and addresses at Elvers Drug store, phone 24, if they live in Neenah, and at Frank Hoffmann's grocery, phone 312, if their residence is in Menasha.

All calls must be made to those places before 8:15 on Saturday morning. It will be impossible for the Flower Cars to call for flowers if the calls are received after that hour.

NEW YORKER FINED $100 ON CHARGE OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Neenah—John Goodwill, driving a car, with a New York license plate was arrested Wednesday night on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Appearing Thursday morning in Justice Jensen's court, he was ordered to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

NECEDAH RESIDENT SLAYS WIFE IN BED

Man, Said to Be Mentally Unsound, Calls Shooting Accident

Necedah—(AP)—Charles Brockway, 70, of this city, shot and killed his wife as she lay in her bed early Wednesday. He said that the shot was accidentally discharged when he went to investigate a noise.

Brockway is said to be mentally unsound, but was not believed to be dangerous. Several years ago he went to Benton Harbor, Mich., where he was a member of the House of David colony for a time. He gave his money to the organization and since that time has been in destitute circumstances.

The sound of the shot awakened a grandson, Mars Brockway, 11, who went to the bedroom and saw his grandfather with the gun in his hand. He asked the old man for the gun and when he complied, the youth ran across the street and told neighbors of the tragedy.

The aged man is in jail here awaiting examination.

OLD LANDMARK GIVES WAY TO NEW RESIDENCE

Neenah—Otto Luebke is tearing down his residence on E. Doty-ave, removing one of the oldest landmarks of the city. The house was built by the late J. B. Hamilton more than 70 years ago and at the time was one of the "palaces" in these parts. Mr. Luebke will erect a new modern home upon the property.

GASOLINE SALES AT APPLETON STATIONS SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

Consumption Is About the Same as Year Ago and Prices Are Holding Steady

Although the two heavy snow storms which tied up traffic for two days in succession during April decreased the sale of gasoline in other Wisconsin cities, Appleton dealers report little change in consumption from last year. The report of Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, indicates that for the first time since the tax was levied, the revenue has failed to show an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year.

Levitan's report revealed that the tax for April, 1927, was $437,029.60 while the levy of 2 cents per gallon returned only $475,580.10 in April, 1928. The two snowstorms in April are blamed for the marked decrease.

Gasoline and lubricating oil prices have remained the same within the past year, and will probably remain stable, according to local dealers. High test gas has remained at 19.6 plus 2 cents tax, and low test gas has stayed at 16.6 plus 2 cents tax. Lubricating oil still remains at 25 and 30 cents per quart.

"The warmer the weather, the more gas there is sold," one dealer concluded. With the appearance of new cars each day, the sale of gas goes up in jumps, another dealer claims.

Local dealers have not as yet been able to determine the comparative sales during May of this year and May, 1927, although they report a lively sale during May.

SCHOOL FUNDS AWAIT PAYMENT OF TAXES

County school boards officers who have been wondering when they will receive the remainder of their state school money are reminded by A. G. Meating, county superintendent, that that money still due them probably will be received in August after state income tax monies have been received. The state apportionment this year amounted to about $4.25 a student and only $2.55 has been paid.

As we feel it is inconvenient for some of our customers to shop other than Saturday nights we will keep our store open for them on Saturday nights, as usual. Store closed on Friday night.—J. C. Penney Co.

Scientists Working Overtime To Make Improvements On Television Machines

To aid in television research, picture broadcasts are being made by WGY, Schenectady, with the apparatus of Dr. E. F. W. Alexander. His transmitter (upper left) has an illuminating arc, a scanning disc, a projecting lens and a cabinet for photoelectric cells. In the receiver (upper right) of John L. Baird, British scientist, the picture appears in a small window. The receiver (center) of C. Francis Jenkins of Washington throws the movie on a small screen. The photograph (lower right) of a face was transmitted a short distance in London by the Baird equipment. Below is a diagram of a simple receiver.

New York—(AP)—The world is moving toward television—how fast only time will determine.

Much must be learned and done before this newest form of radio art can be brought into step with sound broadcasting. Yet scientists are working long hours in an effort to perfect the radio moving picture, added to a certain extent by amateur experimenters.

One of the latest forward steps was the announcement of actual television broadcasts by WGY, Schenectady, on a wavelength of 379.5 meters. These broadcasts are to be made each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 12:30 Eastern time.

Whether visual transmission will become as popular almost overnight as did sound broadcasting depends largely upon the product delivered to the "seer." In the early days of radio the music that came from the receiver did not compare at all favorably with the output of modern apparatus.

A similar situation now prevails in television. The movies transmitted are crude, scientists admit.

Like other forms of radio, the amateur is taking an active interest in television. At every opportunity he is contributing his small part toward the ultimate result. Parts may be available within a short time for the home experimenter, and if he takes to moving picture transmission as he did to sound broadcast, the day that television is as much of an actuality as music from the air may be much closer than present developments seem to indicate.

The radio movie now is not much more than a silhouette. But subjects are recognizable, even where the picture is indistinct. Improvements are expected by which it is hoped that the results will be more lifelike even than an ordinary photograph.

While the picture transmitting apparatus is somewhat complicated, the receiver is comparatively simple. It generally is attached to an ordinary sound set. It contains receiving tubes and a light sensitive tube which changes the electrical impulses into light rather than sound.

Scientists are spending long hours in laboratories in attempting to overcome obstacles. Prominent among them are three men who see great possibilities for the radio movie.

It is Dr. E. F. W. Alexander's apparatus which is being used in the WGY experiments. These broadcasts may be picked up on any television receiver, but are being made primarily to aid engineers in advancing the art. Dr. Alexander, whose contributions to radio date back several years, has developed a television that produces fairly legible pictures.

At Washington, C. Francis Jenkins.

another radio picture pioneer, does not hesitate to predict that television will be available in some form by Christmas through an inexpensive receiver. Like other television sets, his producer takes the place of the loud speaker in the sound receiver.

Another investigator, John L. Baird, is the most active of the scientists abroad. Pictures from his transmitter have been sent from London and picked up on this side of the Atlantic.

In connection with Baird's work, recent announcement was made that an American company had been formed to make television equipment available for amateur use. The back-ers said they hoped to broadcast pictures through a chain of stations.

Television should not be confused with telephoto, which deals only with photographs or "stills." The same problems do not enter into this method of light transmission. The time element there is not so important, although a single cabinet size photograph has been sent over the air in 90 seconds. In radio movies at least 16 complete pictures must be sent per second to give a recognizable result.

The greatest army ever to serve under the American flag was assembled under an attack on September 12, 1918, during the World War, when 400,000 men with 3000 cannon faced the enemy, supported by an air force of nearly 1500 planes.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1832, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for youth, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

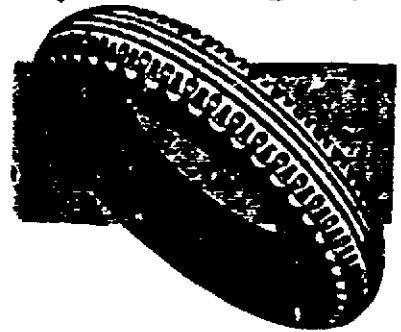

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have

NOTHING NEW ABOUT BUYING DELEGATES IN SOUTHERN STATE

Practice Has Been Common Since Civil War—This Has Been "Lean Year"

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Kansas City—There is nothing new about the charges of Senator George W. Norris that southern delegates to the Republican national convention are bought and sold.

The system by which they are bought by money and patronage to control nominations has been a scandal ever since the Civil War. Perhaps it isn't as bad now as it once was, but there are many Republicans besides Norris who deplore it. The only reason they don't speak out in public about it is that, although Norris is fortunate enough to be free from any requirements of political expediency, they aren't.

During the recent meeting of the Republican national committee to decide the various contests raised by rival southern Republicans over the delegate seats, one writer referred to the process as "the very nastiest phase of American politics."

These contests represent only fights between a few white men some of them survivors of the old carpet-bagger type and a large group of negroes over the federal patronage below the Mason-Dixon line. Often a delegation of whites opposes a delegation of negroes and more often than not the negroes are seated.

Because there is no Republican party in most of the southern states and hence no machine that has to be recognized except for expediency's sake, the contests are not decided on their merits. In most cases there aren't any merits to be considered, but there have been some very bad instances in which the delegates, white or black, who favored the candidate approved by a majority of the national committee were invariably seated.

The national committee, nevertheless, has a check on the purchase and sale of these delegates. Even though a candidate may spend great sums of money for their votes, they can be denied their seats in favor of anyone who raises a contest.

It isn't fair to say that all southern delegates to Republican conventions are bought with money. The most Hoover's people paid any negro Republican this year was $2000, insofar as the Senate Investigating Committee could learn. It seems to have been a lean year.

But unquestionably they are all bought with federal patronage and many of the leaders among them, at least, proceed to sell this federal patronage for hard cash. Postmaster-ships in the south thus become a purchasable commodity, and every so often a postmaster kills himself when the demands of the negro leaders become too exacting.

The reason Hoover got off so cheaply this year in the pre-convention disbursements down south was that he was regarded as the administration candidate. When it became apparent that he was not going to shell out as some other candidates in the past, it was apparently decided that he was the safest bet and trusted to heaven that he would not break up their game after his election. Nevertheless some criticism arose from them over the apparent willingness of the Hoover forces to play ball with the lily whites wherever they could be found in any number. But the seating of all the contested Hoover delegations was convincing evidence that, with the Hoover forces in control, the same old system was at work. It was never quite so spectacularly gamed to the public eye as in 1912. Taft was supposed to have promised the patronage to leaders who could gain control and guarantee him a delegation in North Carolina. There were 210 Roosevelt contestants that year, most of them lily whites and they were thrown out of the convention after being flattened by the Taft steam roller.

Roosevelt had four southern votes in the balloting and Taft had 233. The Progressive party platform that year attacked the system violently, including it "coercion and assessment of subordinate employees" of the government.

In 1916, with the Republican party out of power and its patronage influence nil, the southern convention representation from 10 states was cut from 228 to 153. But those 153 are still used to control nominations and are one of the principal reasons why any Republican president can renominate himself.

Of course a slightly similar situation exists in the Democratic party, but it is not aggravated because the Democratic party is generally out of power and offers no market for the greedy. Delegates from states which haven't gone Democratic in a presidential election for years generally control the nomination, but the so-called delegates-buying and office selling have been on the Republican side of the fence.

It has been exposed time and again but the politicians' union insists on controlling the nomination and the system now in effect helps tighten their grip.

Republican national committeemen in Texas, Virginia, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee have been accused of trafficking in federal patronage in the last eight years. Committeeman C. Bascom Sloop was accused in Congress, where a Virginia Democrat exhibited letters and cancelled checks to prove that he and his secretary were involved in solicitation and receipt of money for federal offices.

"One must be very careful about the collection of money for postoffices," Sloop had written in one letter. That of course, was before Sloop rose to a greater distinction as President Coolidge's secretary.

Congressman Wurzbach of Texas, whose contesting delegation was turned down here a few days ago in favor of that of Committeeman R. B. Creager, has charged repeatedly that Creager had sought to defeat him. The reason is that a lone Republican congressman from a southern state takes away from the committeemen some of his patronage; it becomes his business to discourage any chance of success the party might ordinarily develop.

Some of the southern leaders control thousands of federal jobs. Colonel Cecil A. Lyon, then chairman of the Texas Republican state committee, claimed in 1912 that "all but five of the 5000 federal officeholders in Texas" owed their appointments to him.

We are continuing today the consideration of bidding situations both simple and complex.

TODAY'S HAND

Three questions concerning the above hand; score in all cases love-all. How many can you answer? Make up your mind before you read the answers which follow.

1. What should South (Dealer) declare, holding the above hand?

2. What should North (Third Hand) declare with the above hand; South declaring with it; South having bid one Heart and West having passed?

3. What should East (Fourth Hand) declare with it; South having bid one Heart. West having doubled and North having passed?

THE ANSWERS

1. One Diamond. With a hand that contains sufficient strength to open the auction by bidding either of two suits, the higher-valued should be named if the hand contains strength in much stronger or much longer, or both.

2. One No Trump. When denying partner's Major, a Minor should not be named if the hand contains strength in two suits; unless of course the Minor be so unusually long and strong that same with it seems probable.

3. Two Clubs. Holding two suits of equal length, both Minors or both Majors, answers partner's double with the stronger of those two suits, not necessarily the higher-valued. When an initial bid is made, the higher-valued suit is selected in preference to the lower because there is apt to be an opportunity to show the lower later and thus give the partner a choice between the two, without obliging the partner to increase the size of the declaration; but after a partner's informative double, it is not probable that the answer of the double will have a chance to show two suits and therefore the stronger of suits of equal length should be selected whenever they are both Majors or both Minors.

How many of these questions can you answer? Score love-all.

1. What should North (Third Hand) declare with the above hand; South

2. What should North (Third Hand) declare with it; South having bid one No Trump and West having passed?

3. What should East (Fourth Hand) declare with it; South having bid one Spade, West having doubled and North having passed?

THE ANSWERS

1. Pass. The hand has less than normal support for the partner's suit, and has five cards in the other Major which makes it probable that the combined hands would work better with Spades the trump than with Hearts. But for North to bid a Spade under the circumstances would be to announce at least one quick trick and probably greater strength. South might be induced to bid up the Spades with disastrous results. Denials with bust holdings are verboten and usually expensive when made.

2. Pass. To bid two Spades would seriously deceive the No Trumper. It would promise, in addition to at least five Spades, assistance for the No Trump and would authorize the No Trumper to bid two No Trumps if he have only two Spades. Do not take out partner's No Trump by bidding a weak Major suit unless the side hand furnish material assistance for the No Trump. A Major take-out invites a No Trump rebid and, if it be made, must furnish assistance for it. 3. One No Trump. Many players in this position would make a Business Pass but, with so weak a hand, permitting the Spades bidder to play a contract of one at 15 per trick probably would result in an adverse game. When a player makes an informative double of a No Trump, he shows strength in the declaration doubled, and with strength in the hand of his partner, a Business Pass is apt to produce a large penalty; but when a suit is doubled, the doubler may not have a single card of it and a Business Pass based on nothing but length is apt to be disastrous.

Camp Life Is Healthy For Girls

A HEALTHFUL two weeks is in store for girl campers who will go to Onaway island the end of this month, according to Agnes C. Vanneman, recreation director of the Appleton Women's Club. A registered nurse who accompanies the campers, will go over each girl periodically and if anything is wrong with the girl she will be kept from games and exercise until cured. Cuts and bruises are immediately attended to.

There is usually no trouble in getting the girls to eat, said the recreation director. Girls whose mothers complain that they have no appetites at home seldom leave even "cereal" bits on their plates at camp. The meals are planned for proper balance, and a preponderance of milk and green vegetables is served.

Programs are planned so as not to be too strenuous for any girl. Classes are held for an hour each morning and afternoon when nature work, weaving, basketry, wool carving, and sewing are taught. The nature classes take boats to islands where growths of flowers and leaves are more luxuriant and varied than at Onaway, and study botany in an informal way. Girl scouts will work for their merit badges at this time, and will endeavor to pass rank tests in outdoor work, signalling, and first aid. Classes can be forced on demand.

Each girl will have the chance to go on an overnight hike with her group and cook supper out of doors. The hikes are managed on the patrol system—the girls are divided into groups of six or seven with one girl in charge. The girls are taught to roll their blankets, cover a campfire, protect food from insects and cook a well-balanced meal out of doors. Councillors accompany the girls on the hikes.

Camp canteens are open immediately after dinner where girls can buy candy, stationery, postcards, pencils, and other minor articles. Camp directors request parents not to send their children candy, candy or other food to camp, since the hearty meals provided by "Ma" Dick, camp cook, and the supplementing the girls do with the canteen, they get plenty to eat. Practically the only time the children get sick, say the directors, is after they unwisely stuff themselves with the contents of a box from home.

The tents at Onaway have wooden floors and the cots have comfortable mattresses. In bad weather the tents can be shut up as cozy and water-tight as little houses.

AUXILIARY OF EAGLES PLANS ANNUAL DINNER

Final arrangements for the annual banquet of the Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles next Wednesday were completed at the meeting of the auxiliary at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon in Eagle hall. A general committee composed of Mrs. Paul Schroeder, Mrs. Philip Gresson, Mrs. Stella Schuchter, Mrs. W. C. Felton and Mrs. Meta Huntz, will make the necessary arrangements.

A picnic will entertain the members in July, the date and place to be decided later. Plans were completed for sending the newly organized drill team to the auxiliary to the state convention of the Eagles at Fort Atkinson. The drill team will leave Friday afternoon. The meeting was attended by 56 members.

BOYS' RECITAL CALLED SUCCESS

The second annual boy's recital presented by students from the studio of Marion Miller, violinist, and Mildred Boettcher, was given before a crowded hall in Lawrence Conservatory of Music Wednesday evening. The recital was such a success that the instructors expect to make the all-boy program an annual affair.

Boys are more diffident than girls when it comes to recital work, said the piano instructor. Boys who are overcome with self-consciousness when they must appear on the same program with girls seem to derive a measure of moral support when as a united stag party they wait for their turns.

BRET HARTE HERO FOUND IN SWEDEN

The Original of "Arizona Peter" Is Located by Swedish Newspaper

Stockholm—(AP)—The original of "Arizona Peter," Swedish hero of one of Bret Harte's stories, has been discovered by a Swedish newspaper to be still alive. He is living in the village of Smedjebacken in his native province.

The old wild west hero is, however, totally blind. His real name is Per Erl. Anstrom, and he is now 70 years old.

Anstrom left Sweden in the early eighties for the west where he, like many other Swedes, entered the United States' garrison service.

"Arizona Peter" earned a reputation for enterprise and daring. Once when he found a Sioux chief half unconscious, bound and gagged, he got off his horse and saved the Indian. The sweetheart of Anstrom, however, was in Sweden, and wishing to marry her, he got her a position at a neighboring farm, owned by a Scotch woman.

Shortly after her arrival, she and her mistress were captured in their home by a plundering band and carried off. Accompanied by Grey Bear, a Sioux chief, Anstrom dashed across the Mexican border, surprised the brigands and rescued the women. He then rode away and halted on the slope of a narrow canyon through which the robbers had to pass, as Bret Harte tells the story. There the Swede and the Indian shot down 50 of their foes.

One day Anstrom struck a copper vein in the mountains, and soon a group of engineers and miners began to exploit the find. But his fiancée deserted him to marry one of the mining engineers. In grief, he returned to Sweden where he found work as a stone cutter. Through an explosion he lost the sight of both his eyes. Since then he has been a sh-maker.

Louis Luebke, electrician at the fire department, with Mrs. Luebke and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ivo Geigel and family have left on a fifteen day vacation trip to the northern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Eccles, 824 E. Minor-st., were among the passengers sailing on the Transport liner, Minnekahda, which sailed from New York June 9 for London.

Miss Mabel Laabs, who is employed at the Wisconsin Telephone company and Miss Alvera Van Oyen are spending a two weeks vacation at Milwaukee.

Mrs. L. A. Brigham and daughters, Annette and Alice returned Tuesday evening from California where they spent the last year.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Saturday, June 16th

WEDDINGS

Professor James White, instructor in business administration at Lawrence college, was married to Alice Brown, at the Presbyterian church, Waushara, at four o'clock, Wednesday. The bride was attended by four bridesmaids, and four ushers. John S. Mills, professor of physics and mathematics at Lawrence college, was best man. A reception was held in the parish hall of the church after the wedding, and a bride's supper was given at the home of the bride after which Mr. and Mrs. White left for Wilmington, N. C., where the home of the groom is located.

Miss Dora Dee and Albert Notting, both of Waushara, were married at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage of Emmanuel Evangelical church. The Rev. E. Franz performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Notting are guests of Mrs. Minnie Wickesburg and Miss Emma Wickesburg, Kernan-ave.

Miss Margaret Dautermann, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Dautermann, 212 N. Welmar-st. and Howard Eberhardt, son of Mrs. Henry Eberhardt, Appleton, route 1, were married at 10:20 Thursday morning at the Dautermann home. The Rev. Henry P. Freeling of New London performed the ceremony and the couple was attended by Miss Genevieve Eberhardt and Louis Steiner. A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony to relatives and close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Eberhardt left on a two weeks' wedding trip to the northern part of the state. They will make their home at 212 N. Welmar-st. Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dautermann and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kline of Milwaukee, Mrs. Edward Munster of New Holstein and Mrs. William Ihde of Oak-kosh.

Florian Jabas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jabas 418 N. State-st. and Miss Elva W. Summers of Lodi, were married at 12:00 Wednesday at the Methodist church at Lodi. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Harley Summers. A wedding dinner followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will live on Lawrence-Kaukauna, on their return from a wedding trip to the southern part of the state. Mr. Jabas is an efficiency man at the Molock Machine company of Kaukauna.

G. O. P. IGNORES M'NARY-HAUGEN BILL IN ITS PLATFORM

OFFERS TO SET UP MACHINE TO HELP FARMERS

Puts Party on Record for Strict Enforcement of Eighteenth Amendment

naval and military forces are being used in these countries to protect American lives and interests.

The platform approves the foreign policy of the president generally, making special reference to the course followed in the settlement of foreign debts. It also deems as satisfactory the solution of war claims, and reaffirms its opposition to membership in the League of Nations.

The tariff act of 1922 is declared to have justified itself in the expansion of foreign trade.

It is asserted that American labor enjoyed the highest wage and "living standard in the world, and freedom in wage contracts and the right of collective bargaining is the party's pledge to the wage earner.

DEATH IN WAR

Praising the administration for meeting the Mississippi flood emergency in such a manner that "a great loss of life was prevented," the platform points to passage by congress of a bill authorizing $325,000,000 for the construction of works to prevent a recurrence.

The party goes on record in favor of the drafting of every resource, which may contribute to success, in time of war.

The 1924 campaign of the party is described as having been economic, honest and devoid of the expenses carefully budgeted and showing a surplus instead of a deficit at the close.

Touching upon the merchant marine question, the platform favors an American built and owned fleet, but voices opposition to the government operation or control.

Support is pledged to continue appropriation "commensurate with our needs and resources" for highways, road and rail construction.

THINK OF RADIO

Administration of the radio facilities in such a manner to insure the reception by every home of adequate and varied broadcast program is advocated.

Continued development of the inland and intra-coastal waterways is favored as an essential part of the transportation system.

The platform also takes a stand for "full and adequate relief for out disabled veterans."

It declares for sustained state regulation of public utilities and advocated the application of the conservation principle by the wise development of our national resources.

Creation of a commission to investigate and report to congress upon the existing system of the administration of Indian affairs is favored.

For the Negro, the party recommends the enactment of a federal anti-linching law.

While expressing belief in the essential unity of the American people and the zealous protection by the federal government of the rights of its citizens, the platform asserts that the effort which "is constantly being made to have their federal government move into the field of state activities has never had and never will have the support of the Republican party."

Following is the platform as it was presented to the convention:

The Republican party in national convention assembled presented to the people of the nation this platform of its principles, based on a record of its accomplishments, and asks and awaits a new vote of confidence. We reaffirm our devotion to the constitution of the United States and the principles and institution of the American system of representative government.

We endorse without qualification the record of the Coolidge administration. The record of the Republican party is a record of advancement of the national. Nominees of Republican national conventions have for 72 years since the creation of our party, been the chief executives of the United States. Under Republican inspiration and largely under Republican executive direction the continent has been bound with steel rails, the great and green rivers have been joined by canals, waterways have been deepened and widened for ocean commerce, and with all a high American standard of wage and adherence to sound principles, through the wisdom of Republican policies, and the financial policies have yielded immediate and substantial results.

In 1921 the credit of our government was at low ebb. We were burdened with a huge public debt, a load of war taxes, which in variety and weight exceeded anything in our national life. While the unfunded inter governmental debts disorganized the economic life of the debtor nations and seriously affected our own by reason of the serious obstacles which they presented to commercial intercourse. This critical situation was reduced by a serious disturbance in our own life which made for unemployment.

Today all these major financial problems have been solved.

THE PUBLIC DEBT

In seven years the public debt has been reduced by $6,410,000,000. From March 1921, to September 1928, over eleven billion dollars of securities, bearing high rates of interest, will have been retired or refunded into securities bearing a low rate of interest. While Liberty bonds, which have resulted in an annual savings in interest charges of not less than $275,000,000, without which the most recent tax reduction measure would not have been possible.

The Republican party will continue to reduce our national debt as rapidly as possible and in accordance with the provision of existing laws and the present program.

and colleges, and the increase in savings and life insurance accounts.

FINANCE AND TAXATION

The record of the United States treasury under Secretary Mellon stands unrivaled and unsurpassed. The finances of the nation have been managed with sound judgment. The financial policies have yielded immediate and substantial results.

In 1921 the credit of our government was at low ebb. We were burdened with a huge public debt, a load of war taxes, which in variety and weight exceeded anything in our national life. While the unfunded inter governmental debts disorganized the economic life of the debtor nations and seriously affected our own by reason of the serious obstacles which they presented to commercial intercourse. This critical situation was reduced by a serious disturbance in our own life which made for unemployment.

The Republican party will continue to reduce our national debt as rapidly as possible and in accordance with the provision of existing laws and the present program.

TAX REDUCTION

Wise administrative management

under Republican control and direction has made possible a reduction of over a billion eight hundred million dollars a year in the tax bill of the American people. Four separate tax reduction measures have been enacted, and millions of those least able to pay have been taken from the tax rolls.

Practically all the war taxes have been eliminated and our tax system has been definitely restored to a peacetime basis.

We pledge our party to a continuation of these sound policies and to such further reduction of the tax burden as the condition of the treasury may from time to time permit.

TARIFF

We reaffirm our belief in the protective tariff as a fundamental and essential principle of the economic life of this nation. While certain provisions of the present law require revision in the light of changes in the world competitive situation since its enactment, the record of the United States since 1922 clearly shows that the fundamental protective principle of the law has been fully justified. It has stimulated the development of our natural resources, provided full employment at higher wages through the promotion of industrial activity, assured thereby the fundamental protection of the market, and further raised the standards of living and general comfort and well-being of our people.

Adherence to that policy is essential for the continued prosperity of the country. Under it the standard of living of the American people has been raised to the highest levels ever known.

A protective tariff is as vital to American agriculture as it is to American manufacturing. The Republican party believes that the home market, built up under the protective policy, belongs to the American farmer, and it pledges its support of legislation which will give this market to him to the full extent of his ability to supply it.

The United States is the largest customer in the world today. If we were not prosperous and able to buy the rest of the world also would suffer. It is inconceivable that American labor will ever consent to the abolition of protection which would bring the American standard of living down to the level of that in Europe or that the American farmer could survive if the enormous consuming power of the people in this country was curtailed and its market at home, if not destroyed, at least seriously impaired.

FOREIGN DEBTS.

In accordance with our settled policy and platform pledge, debt settlement agreements have been negotiated with all of our foreign debtors with the exception of Armenia and Russia. That with France remains as yet unratified. Those with Greece and Austria are before the congress for ratification. The French debt settlement is included, the total amount founded is eleven billion five hundred twenty two million three hundred four thousand dollars. We have steadfastly opposed and will continue to oppose cancellation of foreign debt.

We have no desire to be oppressive or grasping, but we hold that obligations justly incurred should be honorably discharged. We know of no authority which would permit public officials, acting as trustees to shift the burden of the war from the shoulders of foreign taxpayers to those of our own people. We believe that the settlements agreed to are fair to both the debtor nation and to the American taxpayer.

The people can rely on the Republican party to adhere to a foreign debt policy firmly established and clearly understood both at home and abroad.

FOREIGN POLICIES

We approve the foreign policies of the administration of President Coolidge. We believe they express the will of the American people in working out the fundamental protective principle of the law. While certain provisions of the present law require revision in the light of changes in the world competitive situation since its enactment, the record of the United States since 1922 clearly shows that the fundamental protective principle of the law has been fully justified. It has stimulated the development of our natural resources, provided full employment at higher wages through the promotion of industrial activity, assured thereby the fundamental protection of the market, and further raised the standards of living and general comfort and well-being of our people.

Adherence to that policy is essential for the continued prosperity of the country. Under it the standard of living of the American people has been raised to the highest levels ever known.

A protective tariff is as vital to American agriculture as it is to interest in the advancement and progress of all the Latin American countries. The policy of the Republican party will always be a policy of thorough friendship and cooperation. In the case of Nicaragua, we are engaged in cooperation with the government of that country upon the task of assisting to restore and maintain peace order and stability and in no way to infringe upon her sovereign rights. The marines, now in Nicaragua, are there to protect American lives and property and to aid in carrying out an agreement whereby we have undertaken to do what we can to restore and maintain order and to insure a fair and free election. Our policy absolutely repudiates any idea of conquest or exploitation and is actuated solely by an earnest and sincere desire to assist a friendly and neighboring state which has appealed for aid in a great emergency. It is the same policy of the United States which has been followed in the case of Central America.

The Republican party maintains the traditional American policy of non-interference in the political affairs of other nations. This government has definitely refused membership in the League of Nations and to assume any obligations under the covenant of the league.

On this we stand.

In accordance, however, with the long established American practice of giving aid and assistance to other peoples, we have most fully assisted by cooperation in the humanitarian and technical work undertaken by the league, without involving ourselves in European politics by accepting membership.

The Republican party promises a firm and consistent support of American persons and legitimate American interests in all parts of the world. This support will never contravene the rights of other nations. It will always have in mind and support in every way the progressive development of international law, since it is through the operation of just laws, as well as through the growth of friendship, that world peace can be maintained.

We believe that the settlements agreed to are fair to both the debtor nation and to the American taxpayer.

The people can rely on the Republican party to adhere to a foreign debt policy firmly established and clearly understood both at home and abroad.

It has stimulated the development of our natural resources, provided full employment at higher wages through the promotion of industrial activity, assured thereby the fundamental protection of the market, and further raised the standards of living and general comfort and well-being of our people.

Adherence to that policy is essential for the continued prosperity of the country. Under it the standard of living of the American people has been raised to the highest levels ever known.

A protective tariff is as vital to American agriculture as it is to department of justice, which have given most valuable aid and assistance to the heads of the farm organizations. The treasury department and the proper committees of congress have lightened the tax burden on farming communities, and through the federal farm loan system there has been made available to the farmers of the nation over a billion eight hundred fifty millions of dollars for loaning purposes at a low rate of interest, and through the intermediate credit banks six hundred fifty-five million dollars of short term credits have been made available to the farmers.

When a shortage of transportation facilities threatened to deprive the farmers of their opportunity to reach waiting markets overseas, the president, appreciative and sensitive of the condition and the possible loss to the communities, ordered the reconditioning of shipping board vessels, thus relieving a great emergency.

Last, but not least, the federal tariff commission has at all times shown a willingness under the provisions of the flexible tariff act to aid the farmers when foreign competition, made possible by low wage scales abroad, threatened to deprive our farmers of their domestic markets. Under this act the president has increased duties on wheat, flour, mill feed and dairy products, numerous other farm products are now being investigated by the tariff commission.

We promise every assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more economical lines and, where diversification is needed, government financial assistance during the period of transition.

The Republican party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board clothed with the necessary powers to promote the establishment of farm marketing system of farmer owned and controlled stabilization corporations or associations to prevent and absorb surpluses through orderly distribution.

We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are effected by foreign competition.

We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for cooperative and orderly marketing of farm products.

The vigorous efforts of this administration towards broadening our exports market will be continued.

The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industry to insure its prosperity and success.

HIGHWAYS

Under the Federal Road act, adopted by the congress in 1919, and supplemented by generous appropriations each year, road construction has made greater advancement than for many decades previous. We pledge our support to continued appropriations for this work commensurate with our needs and resources.

LABOR

The labor record of the Republican party stands unchallenged. For 52 of the 72 years of our national existence Republican administrations have prevailed. Today American labor enjoys the highest wage and the highest standard of living throughout the world through the soundness and soundness of Republican rule the American workman is paid a "real wage" which allows comfort for himself and his dependents and an opportunity and leisure for advancement.

The ability to pay such wages and maintain such a standard comes from the wisdom of the protective legislation which the Republican party has placed upon the national statute books the tariff which bars cheap foreign made goods from the American market and provides continuity of employment for our workmen and fair profits for the manufacturers.

The restriction of immigration which not only prevents the glutting of our labor market, but allows to our newer immigrants a greater opportunity to secure a footing in their upward struggle.

The party favors freedom in wage contracts, the right of collective bargaining by free and responsible agents of their own choosing, which develops and maintains that purposeful cooperation which gains its chief incentive through voluntary agreement.

We believe that injunctions in labor disputes have in some instances been abused and have given rise to a serious question for legislation.

The Republican party pledges itself to continue its efforts to maintain this present standard of living and high wage scale.

RAILROADS

Prompt and effective railroad service at the lowest rates will provide for its maintenance and allow a reasonable return to the investor so they may be encouraged to advance new capital for acquired developments, has long been recognized by the Republican party as a necessity of national existence.

We believe that the present laws under which our railroads are regulated are soundly based on correct principles, the spirit of which must always be preserved. Because, however, of changes in the public demands, trade conditions and of the character of the competition, which even the greatest railroads are now being called upon to meet, we feel that in the light of this new experience possible modifications or amendments, the need of which is proved, should be considered.

MERCHANT MARINE

The Republican party stands for the American built and owned, and American operated merchant marine. The enactment of the White-Jones bill is in line with a policy which the party has long advocated.

MISSISSIPPI RELIEF

The Mississippi valley flood in which over a hundred thousands of our fellow citizens were placed in peril of life, and which destroyed hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of property, was met with energetic action by the Republican administration.

Congress promptly passed legislation authorizing the expenditure of $375,000,000 for the construction of flood control works, which it is believed will prevent the recurrence of such a disaster.

WATERWAYS

Cheaper transportation for bulk goods from the midwest agricultural sections to the sear is recognized by the Republican party as a vital factor for the relief of agriculture. To that end we favor the continued development in inland and in intra-coastal waterways as an essential part of our transportation system.

VETERANS

Our country is honored whenever it bestows relief on those who have faithfully served its flag. The Republican party, appreciative of this solemn obligation and honor, has made its sentiments evident in congress. Our expenditures for the benefit of our veterans now aggregate 750 million dollars annually, increased hospital facilities have been provided, payments in compensation have more than doubled, and in the matter of rehabilitations, pensions, and insurance, generous provision has been made. We commend the action of congress in liberalizing the laws applicable to veterans' relief.

CONSERVATION

We believe in the practical application of the conservation principle by the wise development of our national resources. The measure of development is our national requirement, and avoidance of waste so that future generations may share in this natural wealth: The Republican policy is to prevent monopolies in the control and utilization of natural resources.

The Republican party has been foremost in assuring the development of water power in accordance with public interest. A policy of permanent public retention of the power sites on public land and power privileges in domestic and international navigable streams, and one-third of the potential water power resources in the United States on public domain, has been assured by the federal water powers act, passed by a Republican congress.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

We reaffirm the American constitutional doctrine as announced by George Washington in his "farewell address," to-wit:

"The constitution which at any time exists until changed by the explicit and authentic act by the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all."

We also affirm the attitude of the American people toward the federal

ENGLISH WOMAN SUFFRAGE HEAD DEAD IN LONDON

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst Secured Voting Power for Women of Great Britain

London—(AP)—One of the most picturesque figures in the woman suffrage movement, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst died Thursday morning in of 69. Death came after a comparatively short illness.

Mrs. Pankhurst was the first militant suffragist in efforts to obtain the vote for women, millions of whom are now enjoying the privilege of casting their ballots at the parliamentary election as a result of the work of her and her supporters. This early work was often done at great personal risk.

After founding the Women's Social and Political Union with her daughter Christabel, Mrs. Pankhurst started the votes for women agitation by heading a deputation to the house of commons to demand the vote. Many members of this body were jailed.

Afterwards the Women's Freedom League came into being and its adherents adopted militant methods. However, Mrs. Pankhurst frequently used by the authorities to attempt to check the activities of the women. Mrs. Pankhurst was often in and out of that institution and her last offense brought a sentence of penal servitude. She started a hunger strike, however, and was released before the sentence was completed.

Of late years, Mrs. Pankhurst had been a constitutionalist. At the time of her death she was the conservative candidate for commons from White-chapel. She was also engaged in the running of a rooming house.

Her daughter, Sylvia, recently wrote expressing profound grief that her mother had deserted her old cause of progress to which Sylvia's father, Richard Marsden Pankhurst, and "all of us" had given long service.

HOLD RELATIVES FOR INFANT MURDER

Claim Father, Grandmother Killed Child Born Out of Wedlock

Rowley Bay—(AP)—The confessed father of an infant girl born out of wedlock and the child's maternal grandmother are being held at Sturgeson Bay on a charge of first degree murder in the death of the baby.

The child was born on a farm near here on June 6, and investigation concerning its disappearance led to the arrest Wednesday. Matt McOlash, 18, the father, and Mrs. Edwin Ostram, 47, grandmother, are held.

Suspicion in the case was aroused when Dr. W. A. Sneebberger, Ephraim, who attended the "young mother," returned to the Ostram home the day after birth and was told that the baby had been sent to an orphanage at De Pere.

According to police, Mrs. Ostram was not at home at the time of the visit, but later called the doctor and informed him that the baby had choked to death on a drink of water, but that she had not told her daughter because of the young mother's weakened condition.

G. M. Stapleton, Door-co district attorney, learned of the case when Dr. Sneebberger came to Sturgeson Bay on business. E. C. Christensen, coroner, was sent to recover the body Monday for the purpose of obtaining verdict for issuing the death certificate.

According to the coroner, Mrs. Ostram offered all her money and her farm if he would leave the body and go no further. He testified at the inquest that she became hysterical when he obtained a shovel and proceeded to open the grave which was found in a chicken yard in back of the farm house.

On the coroner's return, Stapleton obtained the services of Dr. Edward Miloslavich, Milwaukee pathologist, who made post-mortem examination Tuesday evening. A jury verdict issued Wednesday, says that the baby came to her death by poisoning and violence inflicted by an unknown party or parties.

Dr. Miloslavich's examination revealed that death occurred from carbolic acid and from a blow with a hammer on the back of the head, it is alleged.

TOMAHAWK GIRL AWARDED SAFETY CAMPAIGN PRIZE

Madison—(AP)—Miss Virginia Schultz, Tomahawk, won the first state prize in the Seventh National Safety Campaign conducted by the Highway Education Board, Washington, D. C.

Taking Why We Have and Practice Traffic Rules as her subject, which was selected for elementary school pupils, Miss Schultz received an average of 92.

Essays were read and graded by a committee selected from the office of Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction.

Other elementary school winners follow:

Ruth Sanderson, Crivitz; Ralph Rundle, Edgar; Ada Hoffschmidt, Antigo; Marcella Thorn, Hartford; Margaret Magnuson, Tremont; Dolores Lang, West Bend; Eugene Jure, Antigo; and Margaret Johnson, Racine.

A similar contest held for state teachers was won by Miss Winona McNeight, Edgar, Wisconsin.

The subject of the teachers' plan was Objectives and Methods of Education Street and Highway Safety.

The winning essay is forwarded to Washington to compete in the national contest for a first prize of $500 and a trip to the point with all expenses paid.

Tell Sex Of Eagles By Worried Look Of Female

Madison—(AP)—The eagle is no flirt or tradition slipped when it gave him credit for having a keen eye.

Conducted by Dr. Francis Herrick, naturalist, the only replacement ever made in the eagle family is upon the death of one of the mates.

The nature lover completed the observation of an eagle family in northern Ohio over a period of seven years from a coop built in the top of a tree adjacent to that in which the eagle family lived.

Dr. Herrick made note of the following facts during his period of observation:

The sex of the eagles can be determined by the worried frown, ordinarily worn by the female. An eagle can carry in flight no more than its own weight, which, in extreme cases, does not exceed twelve pounds, therefore, the tales of foraging eagles which carry away young sheep and even babies, are myths. Eagles marry for life, and the eagle family is perpetual, the bird takes new mates when one dies.

The eagle family in question has lasted eighty-nine years, although the life of each eagle is comparatively short. During this time the eagles occupied four nests successively, each being destroyed when the tree which held it was blown down. At the time of the destruction of the last nest it weighed in the neighborhood of one ton. Eagles can fly six hundred miles in a day.

When the Father of the family was killed by a farmer last November, the widow disappeared for several months, then returned with a new bridegroom. The new couple, their home wrecked by the March tornado, are building the fifth nest of the family in a nearby tree.

PRAISE CITY EMPLOYEES FOR THEIR EFFICIENCY

Good work should be commended, the opinion of Alderman Mark Catlin.

At the adjourned meeting of the city council Wednesday evening, the first ward alderman took occasion to tell his fellow councilmen that the work of the street department is showing real efficiency this spring and is expediting repair work about the city.

Alderman Walter Gmeliner, chairman of the street and bridge committee, replied that cooperation of the council was responsible for the efficiency and that the purchase of a steam roller, ordered earlier in the session, would help put the Appleton streets in good shape.

STAGE And SCREEN

"TELLING THE WORLD"

In spite of the fact that some of the locals are laid in China, William Haines' starting picture, "Telling the World," might truly be called the All-American movie, for the entire technical staff of the production and every member of the cast hails the land of the partially free as his birthplace.

In this era of cosmopolitan productions embracing a Babel of tongues and a multiplicity of jawbreaking names, the cast that produced the picture which comes Thursday, Friday and Saturday to Francher's Appleton Theatre, stands out as 100 per cent American.

Haines himself was born in Staunton, Virginia, and a trace of the Southern drawl still lingers in his speech. Anita Page, his leading lady, is a New Yorker and proud of it. Sam Wood, the director, was born in Philadelphia, has never been abroad in his life and is satisfied that Hollywood is the best place in the world to live in. Even Bill Daniels, the cameraman, and Eddy Brophy, the assistant director, are American born.

The remainder of the cast, Eileen Percy, Frank Currier, Bert Roach and William V. Mong are mostly descendants of Irish stock who date their entrance papers in the days when Ellis Island was nothing but a quarantine stop.

Even Polly Moran, who has made her reputation as a player of Irish reels, was born in New York City—although she proudly declares her parents came from the "ould sod."

As with the principals, so with the story. "Telling the World" is a dis-tingly American type of story exploiting Haines' character as a typical American wealthy youth. The situations and the comedy were designed by Yankee minds for Yankee enjoyment.

The story of the production was written and adapted to the screen by Dale Van Every, who hails from Lansing, Michigan. The central theme deals with the romance of an American-created institution, the great press associations which cover the earth with their wires and bring home the news of the day.

"THE TRAGEDY OF YOUTH"

A picture that depicts a phase of life as practised by the younger generation, finely directed and portrayed by a great cast of screen favorites is "The Tragedy of Youth" a Tiffany-Stahl production at the Elite Theatre today and Friday.

In bold, dramatic strokes the picture unfolded an absorbing story of the lives of two of the modern youngsters, a boy and a girl, who while enjoying the hectic life of the city's carefree fall in love with each other (or think they do) and within a short time are married. They sail away on their honeymoon and on board ship the bride is introduced to a handsome and fascinating friend of the groom. There is an immediate attraction between the girl and the newcomer which later develops into a very strong friendship.

The young husband unused to the quiet life at home starts neglecting his bride for his own selfish pleasures leaving his wife to find solace for her loneliness with the friend. Matters progressed to that dangerous stage where the friend cannot hide his love for the neglected wife, arouses the jealousy of the wayward husband, who upbraids his bride, they separate, the friend leaves, there is a reconciliation, another quarrel and then a

ATLANTIC FLYERS STILL WAIT, HOPE

Woman Air Rivals, Anxious to Start, Must Await Better Weather

St. John, N. F.—(AP)—Two American women, each of whom aspires to be the first of her sex to fly the Atlantic Thursday impatiently awaited favorable conditions for their flights to Europe from separate Newfoundland ports.

At Harbor Grace Miss Mabel Boll very dramatic and unlooked for climax.

The entire production has been produced in a lavish way, smartly and very well directed by George Archibald with a cast of players including Warner Baxter as the friend, Patsy Ruth Miller and Buster Collier as the young couple, Claire McDowell and Harvey Clark as the bride's parents, Margaret Quimby as a chaperon, Stephen Feltch in the negro comedy re-her and Billie Bennett as the landlady.

and her two pilots, Oliver Le Bouthier and Arthur Arglow, hoped for a clearing of the weather which had halted their tuning up of the transatlantic monoplane Columbia, and more favorable reports on weather over the Atlantic.

At the opposite end of the Avalon peninsula, in Trepassey Bay, some 70 miles away, Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon made a successful trial flight here Thursday morning and immediately afterward final preparations for the trip by way of the Azores were started.

It was the first time the Friendship, a Fokker monoplane, had been able to get off the water since it came here almost two weeks ago. With a lightened load of gasoline occasioned by a last minute change in plans to fly by way of the Azores rather than to follow the great circle course, the ship soared into the air easily.

After circling the harbor several times it returned to anchorage. Miss Boll, who first said she hoped to beat the Boston social service worker to Europe, and later denied that she intended to make a race of the flight, has wired Miss Earhart on invitation to fly the Friendship to Harbor Grace and make the flight a joint affair.

Miss Boll was not as hopeful as

AWARD CONTRACT FOR REPAIRING LIGHTS ON CHERRY STREET BRIDGE

Cherry-st bridge is to be repaired at once and the ornamental lighting system, out of repair for the past few months, put into working order again.

The lighting committee of the city council, at a meeting held preliminary to the adjourned session Wednesday night, decided to let the contract for the work and their recommendation was accepted by other councilmen at the meeting.

No attempt will be made to repair the present wiring, deeply imbedded in the cement, but new wiring will be strung beneath the bridge. The contract for the work called for an expenditure of $355.

Miss Earhart for a takeoff Thursday. As she has an aversion to taking off on Friday it appeared as though the Columbia's flight might be postponed until Saturday.

ANGORA LOSES FAVOR AS TURKISH CAPITAL; BROUSSA MAKES GAIN

Older and Handsomer City Is Located Among Cool and Fertile Mountains

Broussa, Turkey—When the Kemalists abandoned the ancient and magnificent capital of the Ottomans and trekked to barren Angora all the world wondered.

Now a good deal of wondering is being done by the Turks themselves as to whether the capital can be maintained in the arid, utterly unproductive plains of Angora, where the stifling heat of summer sends government officials and all others who have the price of a railroad fare, fleeing to the Bosphorus or to the mountains of Broussa.

Despite the millions spent to make the new capital of Angora safe and habitable for democracy, Turks are turning their eyes from the bleak newness of Angora toward the beauty of the oldest capital of the Ottomans and one of the fairest cities of the Orient—Broussa.

Beauty aside, the fertility of Broussa's soil, as contrasted with the aridness of the Angora plain, is enough to make all opponents of the high cost of living vote for Broussa as the fifth and final capital of the Turkish nation.

If the change ever is effected one government building is ready, for two years ago Broussa presented President Kemal with a residence. A small and simple villa, it is yet as pretentious as the presidential residence at Angora.

Strategic and political reasons make highly improbable the shifting of the Turkish capital back to Constantinople and strategic reasons might also inhibit the choice of Broussa, as it lies only 20 miles east of the Marmara Sea and lacks Angora's immunity from the danger enemy ships and planes.

Historically, this queen city of Anatolia has every right to be a capital. Founded in 200 B. C. by Prussia II, king of Bythnia, it was successively held by Rome, Byzantium, the Moslems and Greece. It was again captured by the Ottoman Turks in 1325 and was made the first Ottoman capital.

The mosques and tombs built by early sultans before the capital was moved to Adrianople make Broussa the center of Turkish history as well as the cradle of the finest Turkish architecture and its setting is hardly less beautiful than that of Constantinople. Broussa rises on the slopes of the Bithynian Olympus, a snow-capped mountain which towers 7,000 feet above the city white with hundreds of domes and gleaming minarets and green with thousands of trees and luxuriant gardens.

SOCIAL CONFERENCE FACES DIVERSITY OF PROBLEMS

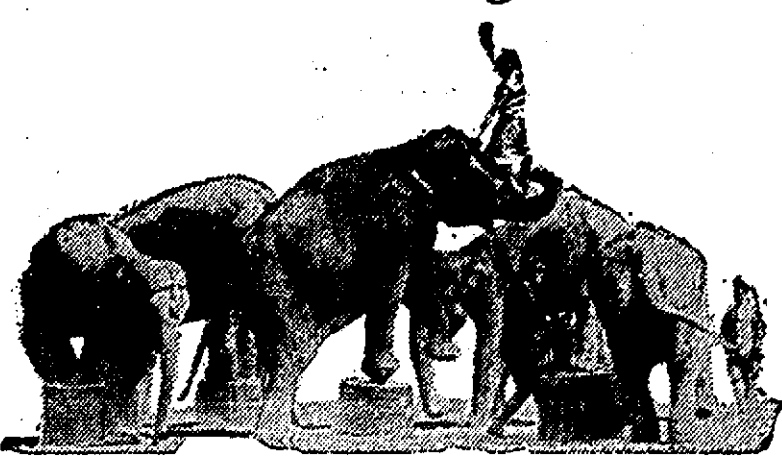

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—A dozen subjects covering widely the field of social welfare will engage the attention of the National Conference of Social Work at its fifty-fifth annual meeting here May 2-9.

Children, delinquents and corrections, health, the family and industrial and economic problems are a few of the general topics for discussion in which delegates representing 30 cities throughout the United States and in several foreign countries will participate. Simultaneously with the conference itself, more than 30 kindred groups will have annual meetings for the study of special problems.

The conference program will be under the leadership of Sherman Kingsley of Philadelphia, president of the conference, and Howard R. Knight, Columbus, O., general secretary.

It will be organized in 12 divisions, under the chairmanships of Albert H. Stoneham, Detroit; Bleeker, Marquette, Cincinnati; Dorothy Kahn, Baltimore; John A. Lapp, Chicago; Mrs. Eva W. White, Boston; William J. Ellis, Trenton, N. J.; F. Stuart Chapin, Minneapolis; Homer W. Vorst, Indianapolis; and George W. Kirchwey, Lawson G. Lowrey, William Hodson and Cecelia Razovsky, of New York.

Elephants Make Coming Circus A Big Success

One of the performing herds of elephants with the Robbins Bros. Circus coming to Appleton, Saturday, June 16.

"The largest show in the world giving a street parade" is the claim of the Robbins Bros. 4-Ring circus coming to this city Saturday June 16. It is a mammoth gathering of all of the prominent features to be found in this country. Europe, Asia and Africa. Many acts and animals are presented for the first time.

Among those of a distinctive character, guaranteeing a thrilling entertainment are:

Two mammoth Pageants—Santa Claus in Fairyland and Historic Review of America.

Five Herds of Elephants. World's Most Famous Hippopotamus—Miss Iowa—weighs 6000 pounds gaining 2000 lbs. in a year.

Heard of Dromedary Camels. Hogland's Dancing Horses brought from Italy.

Herds of Reindeer with a live Santa Claus.

Matsumoto Family of acrobats imported from Japan.

Arabian Tumblers imported from Teheran, Persia, known as the Lion seed troups.

Ponca Bill's Wild West—a complete show.

Fifty Indians from Sioux Reservation.

Fifty Cowboys from off the plains of the west.

Miss Lulu Parr, world's champion bucking broncho rider.

Forty Clowns under Kenneth Waite, the world's highest salaried clown.

One Thousand people man the show.

Two hundred wild animals, fresh from the jungles.

Three hundred horses used and trained.

One hundred and thirty-two tableaux and circus wagons.

Two electric light plants.

Six Bands under guidance of Prof. Gilson.

This is only a part of the vast organization coming to this city to entertain and instruct the multitude. It gives the reader something of an idea of this vast aggregation where several circuses and a mammoth wild west show have been combined to furnish entertainment and thrills for the little ones and the old fellows as well.

The free Chevrolet automobile show in a special display tent on the circus midway will be one of the day's attractions. Nine Chevrolet models will be displayed. The S. and O. Chevrolet company and associated dealers are sponsoring the show in Appleton.

SHOW MODERN PLUMBING FIXTURES IN TRUCK HERE

A large automobile truck of special design and carrying a complete display of the most modern bath room, kitchen, and laundry equipment is to visit Appleton Friday and all home owners and prospective builders are invited to inspect the display.

The truck, making a tour of the country, is sent out by the Crane company and the most modern methods of economizing in space and still having all conveniences is shown in the arrangement of the fixtures.

Additional interest is given this exhibit from the fact that the supply fixtures of the lavatories and the sink are actually connected to running water. The water is supplied by the Crane automatic water system. There will be no charge and none of the fixtures are for sale although any or all of them may be obtained and installed by regular contractors with little or no delay.

POSTOFFICE WANTS YOU TO SEND NEW ADDRESS

The arrival of vacation time, the closing of schools for the summer and the annual moving period at hand, has prompted local postal officials to ask that persons contemplating leaving town for any period of time or who are moving from one location to another, leave their new address at the postoffice.

Cards for this purpose can be obtained from carriers or at the postoffice. The procedure is necessary in order that mail arriving in Appleton can be delivered to the correct address without delay or confusion. The information also can be mailed to the postoffice if persons give both the new and old addresses.

BOY KNOCKED DOWN BY MOTORCYCLE SIDECAR

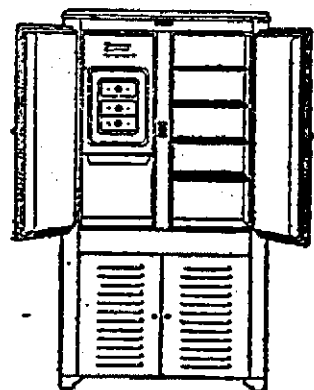

Wilbur Murphy, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, 219 E. Fremont-st., was injured Wednesday evening when he was struck by a motorcycle and side car driven by Reinhardt Bohnsack, 218 W. Atlantic-st. The accident occurred on S. Onida-st., near the Appleton Superior Knitting Works, when the youth darted out into the street behind a truck and was struck by the side car of the motorcycle.

Bohnsack was traveling behind the truck and apparently the Murphy boy did not notice him. Bohnsack took the boy to St. Elizabeth hospital and reported to police. The youngster suffered cuts and bruises on his face.

Press And Private Concerns Renew War For Short Waves

Washington—(AP)—Renewal of the fight by the press for point-to-point radio service has made the short wave problem a major issue before the Federal Radio commission and may cause further delay in the allotment of the high frequency channels.

Although representatives of the press demand early action on their applications, the commission is disposed to go slowly in the allotment of the short waves as advised by government engineers.

Sharply challenging the claim of the communication companies to priority, members of the American Radio Committee declare the press ranks second only to government agencies in the importance of its radio service to the public. They cite the radio law which stipulates public interest and necessity as the paramount factor in granting licenses.

Joseph Pearson, of Chicago, chairman of the committee which seeks three short wave bands, said: "The principal independent servant of the government in the government's management of its extensive domain, the press is entitled to a position just next to the government in the allotment of communications."

"The press serves the public of the whole nation daily at a rate normally of 2 cents per 100,000 words. The private companies long ago reached their practical limitations in handling press for the masses of the public and became the expense to the public of using the wires is prohibitive, being about $5,000 per 100,000 words or 250,000 times the cost of the press."

Col. Manton Davis, who presented to the commission the statement of the Radio Corporation of America regarding short wave allocation, said: "The commission would well serve the United States and its people if it should grant the use of no frequency for communication between fixed points to any organization, unless that organization has adequate facilities, and has the obligation under the law to accept messages from the public and to serve any and every one of the public quality and fairly well."

"If a channel be given to the exclusive use of one newspaper, by what principle may any other newspaper in the world be denied a like privilege?"

The bands requested by the publishers committee are from 4,000 to 4,100 kilocycles, 8,000 to 8,200 and 12,000 to 12,300 kilocycles.

Extra large watermelons, every one guaranteed. Special 79c. Schaefer's Grocery, "The orange front."

Saturday, June 16th

LOOK OVER CANADA'S HYDRO ELECTRIC SYSTEM

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin legislators and officials will leave Madison Saturday for Ontario, Canada, to inspect Ontario's hydro-electric system.

The inspection is to be made in connection with the legislative interim waterpower committee's study of public ownership of electric utilities.

Members of the committee who will make the trip are: Senator H. B. Dagggett, West Milwaukee, chairman; Assemblyman Alvin C. Reis, Madison; secretary; Senator James Barker, Antigo; and Assemblymen Thomas M. Duncan, Milwaukee, and L. L. Thayer, Birchwood.

They will be accompanied by E. E. Witte, chief of the legislative reference library; Adolph Kanneberg, commissioner and George Steinmetz, engineer of the state railroad commission; and Arthur Stefan, clerk of the committee.

About two weeks will be spent in study of the Ontario system.

3 Concerns Ask Short Wave Bands For Radios

Washington—(AP)—Three wireless companies are preparing to seek the radio communication business in the United States.

Applications to the Federal Radio Commission for short wave channels to operate networks similar to the wire systems have been made by the Radio Corporation of America, the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company and the Universal Wireless Communications company, a new corporation formed at Buffalo, N. Y.

The Radio Corporation, last of the three companies to announce its entry in the domestic communication field, asks construction permits for 65 short wave transmitters to be used in a network serving 24 cities throughout the United States from Central stations at New York, San Francisco, Chicago and New Orleans.

The company proposes to use 118 frequencies for exclusive national use, 62 of which are below 6,000 kilocycles and 56 above 6,000 kilocycles. It is planned also to share 29 frequencies with international services.

The Mackay company, subsidiary of Postal Telegraph-Commercial Cables, Inc., has applied for 50 channels to be used in circuits from New York to San Francisco via Chicago, Kansas City and Denver; Chicago to New Orleans via St. Louis, Memphis and Birmingham; Kansas City to Galveston, Tex., via Dallas; New York to Miami via Norfolk, Savannah and Jacksonville.

SIGMAN ATTENDS MEETING OF COMMERCIAL FISHERS

Samuel Sigman, director and organizer of the Wisconsin Federation of Commercial Fishermen will leave Thursday evening for Two Rivers where he will have charge of the first annual convention of the organization. The conference will be held Friday and Saturday.

Among the speakers on the 2 day program are members of the state conservation commission. Several problems confronting lake fishermen, among them size of nets, closed season during spawning and means of propagating fish, will be discussed.

The federation of fishermen was organized by Mr. Sigman early last winter with the aid of Two Rivers men who make their living fishing out of that port. Local organizations have been established in practically all ports along the lake and several small conference in sections have been held during the spring.

For Beauty inside
hire these 2 partners

Let the skilled professional painter and pure lead paint fill your home with lasting charm

LONG before our time, the painter covered interior walls and ceilings with beauty born of pure lead paint. Today, the same two partners can fill your house with the same lasting charm and color.

The art of the skilled painter in mixing and applying paint, and the versatility of pure lead paint made with Dutch Boy white-lead, place at your command unending possibilities for color inside your home. With this paint the painter can obtain any desirable color, the exact tints or shades you want. He can carry out any decorative scheme and produce any number of distinctive and colorful paint finishes, whose original beauty is lasting.

For this colorful interior work your skilled painter mixes Dutch Boy white-lead and Dutch Boy flatting oil. He tints this paint specially for each job . . . and thus insures your getting the exact color you desire. In addition he gives you a real flat paint whose finish is not harmed by frequent washings with soap and water. To get a superior gloss paint for exterior painting, the painter mixes Dutch Boy white-lead and linseed oil.

Dutch Boy white-lead, in either heavy paste or soft paste form, is sold at leading paint stores.

14 STUDENTS WRITE STATE FAIR EXAMS

Contests Being Held in Spelling, Arithmetic and Intelligence

Only 14 Outagamie county school districts were represented at the annual spelling, arithmetic and intelligence tests being held at the court house Thursday morning. The winner of the contest will represent the county in a meet at the state fair in Milwaukee the last week in June. Winners of first and second places in the county contest will receive medals.

Cups which were won by students in the annual field meet here last month were to be awarded together with medals won by county contestants in the Milwaukee Journal county and district Olympics contests, after the examinations.

The contest held Thursday usually is a part of county commencement exercises but was postponed a week because of the excursion to Madison last Saturday where diplomas were awarded graduating students.

WON'T PERMIT SEWER LINE UNDER TRACKS

West Second street in Appleton ends at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company's tracks and does not cross the tracks, the railroad company has notified the city refusing permission for a sewer line to be run under the tracks. The application was made by George Sporel whose residence is across the tracks.

GETTING READY FOR BUMPER BERRY CROP

Sturgeon Bay—(P)—With the promise of a bumper cherry crop this season, the Fruit Growers Union of Door County, sponsors of the annual Cherry Pickers Camp, find it necessary to expand accommodations to the extent of opening up a branch camp at Horseshoe Bay.

According to the committee, in charge, over eight hundred boys from all over the state, ranging in age from thirteen to eighteen years, will attend these camps, which they are expected to leave a vacation to their summer vacation problems.

Here they will combine work in the fragrant orchards with play under the direction of competent physical directors, and come home at the end of the month with all their expenses paid and enough extra "chick" to keep them in spending money until school starts.

TENNIS TOURNEY FOR BOYS STARTS FRIDAY

The city-wide tennis tournament for boys conducted and sponsored by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning, according to Irving Buck, acting boys work secretary.

Two groups to compete include boys of 10 to 15, and those in the intermediate class aged 15 to 18 years. Players will draw for places on the schedule.

"Y" BICYCLE CLUB TAKES RIDE FRIDAY

The Bicycle club of the Y. M. C. A. will sponsor a ride to Green Bay on Friday for boys of the boys' department. Boys of the Green Bay association will leave Green Bay for Appleton at the same time local boys do and the place of meeting is to be the location for a baseball game. They will leave at 10 o'clock in the morning. Irving Buck, acting boys work secretary, is to be in charge.

PREPARE WORKSHOP FOR Y. M. C. A. BOYS

Equipment for the boys' work shop at the Y. M. C. A. was installed Thursday. Three work benches and numerous tools furnished by the association were placed in the former boys' reading room.

Boys will be privileged to build whatever they desire but must furnish their own lumber, according to Irving Buck, acting boys work secretary. John Frampton is to be in charge of the workshop.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

GENERAL WEATHER
The low pressure, or storm area, has now moved to the St. Lawrence Valley after having caused local showers over portions of the lake region and southeastern states during the past 24 hours. It is followed by high pressure over the entire central portion of the country, with fair and somewhat cooler weather. This "high" is expected to cause fair weather in this section tonight and Friday with no material changes in temperature.

TEN BOYS GO ON OVERNIGHT HIKE

Ten members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. went on an overnight hike to "Green Patch" on the upper Fox river, Wednesday night. Games and contests featured the evening program. The boys who returned Thursday morning were in charge of Irving Buck, acting boys work secretary.

DODGE FARM RELIEF BILL IN PLATFORM

constitution as declared by Abraham Lincoln:

"We are both by duty and inclination bound to stick by the constitution in all its letter and spirit from beginning to end. I am for the honest enforcement of the constitution. Our safety, our liberty, depends upon preserving the constitution of the United States, as our forefathers made it."

The people through the method provided by the constitution have written the eighteenth amendment into the constitution. The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision of the constitution.

HONESTY IN GOVERNMENT

We stand for honesty in government, for the appointment of officials whose integrity cannot be questioned. We pledge ourselves to maintain honesty even fallen from this high standard and that certain American citizens of both parties have so far forgotten their duty as citizens as to traffic in national interests for private gain. We have prosecuted and shall always prosecute any official who subordinates his public duty to his personal interest.

The government today is made up of thousands of conscientious, earnest, self-sacrificing men and women, whose single thought is service to the nation.

We pledge ourselves to maintain and, if possible, to improve the quality of this great company of federal employees.

CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

Economy, honesty and decency in the conduct of political campaigns are the duty of representatives of government. It is to be preserved to people and political parties alike the respect of the citizens at large. There will not be any relaxing of resolute endeavor to keep our elections clean, honest and free from taint of any kind. The improper use of money in connection with political affairs is a great national evil. One of the most effective remedies for this abuse is publicity in all matters touching campaign contributions and expenditure. The republican party, beginning not later than August 1, and for what purposes, and after the last publication being not later than five days before the election, will file with the committees of the house and senate a complete account of all contributions, the names of the contributors, the amount expended, and for what purposes, and will at all times hold its records and books touching such matters open for inspection.

The party further pledges that it will not create, or permit to be created, any deficit which shall exist at the close of the campaign.

COMMERCIAL AVIATION

Without governmental grants or subsidies and entirely by private initiative, the nation has made extraordinary advances in the field of commercial aviation. Over 20,000 miles of air service privately operated is now being flown daily, and the breeding of new airmen is an almost weekly event. Because of our close relations with our sister republics on the south and our neighbors on the north, it is fitting our first efforts should be to establish an air communication with Latin-America and Canada.

IMMIGRATION

The Republican party believes that in the interest of both native and foreign-born wage-earners, it is necessary to restrict immigration. Unrestricted immigration would result in the overcrowding of the American standard of living here, however, the law works undue hardship by depriving the immigrant of the comfort and society of those bound by close family ties, such modification should be adopted as will afford relief.

NAVY

We pledge ourselves to round out and maintain the navy in all types of combatant ships to the full ratio provided for the United States by the Washington treaty for the limitation of naval armament and any amendment thereto.

WOMEN AND PUBLIC SERVICE

Four years ago at the Republican national convention in Cleveland women members of the national convention were welcomed into full association and responsibility in party management.

During the four years which have passed they have carried with them associates an equal share of all responsibilities and their contribution to the success of the 1924 campaign is well recognized.

The Republican party, which from the first has sought to bring this development about, accepts wholeheartedly equality on the part of women and in the public service it can present a record of appointments of women in the legal, diplomatic, judicial, treasury and other governmental departments.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

We believe that in time of war the nation should draft for its defense not only its citizens but also every resource which may contribute to success. The country demands that should the United States ever again be called upon to defend itself by arms, the president be empowered to draft such material resources and such services and essential commodities, whether utilized in actual warfare or private activity.

OUR INDIAN CITIZENS

National citizenship was conferred upon all native born Indians in the United States by the general Indian enfranchisement act of 1924. We favor the creation of a commission to be appointed by the president including one or more Indian citizens to investigate and report to congress upon the existing system of the administration of Indian affairs and to report any inconsistencies that may be found to exist between that system and the rights of the Indian citizens of the United States. We also favor the repeal of any law and the termination of any treaty which is inconsistent with the rights of the Indian citizens of the United States.

ALL DAY FIGHT ON PLATFORM FOR PARTY

tion of 1924 by presenting a complete platform of his own.

The battle promised to take up most of the day's first session, but the leaders planned to go on later in the day to the nomination of Hoover, and then adjourn until Friday, to provide a night of consideration before balloting for second place on the ticket.

AWAIT HOOVER'S WORD

Informal agreement was reached among some of the leaders Thursday to lay aside the vexing vice presidential situation until Hoover's nomination is effected and he is given an opportunity to indicate his wishes.

Meanwhile the rivalry among the score of candidates was developing some high powered politics with managers and even candidates rushing about floor seeking to line up delegations. The stock of Vice President Dawes was declared on the wane by some of the Hoover administration group but no outstanding opponent had been developed.

Once more, discussion returned to Senator Curtis of Kansas, who is holding off word to his friends of his availability until the presidential race in which he is a contestant is settled. Senator Capper of Kansas, announced there had been a renewal of talk among the middlewestern bloc for Curtis to be the vice president.

EAST IS ACTIVE

Eastern candidates were making a good battle with Senators Moses of New Hampshire and Edge of New Jersey; Rep. Tilson of Connecticut and Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts, in a merry free for all for untried delegates. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, was active on the floor for Moses but Tilson's crowd claimed a large number of pledge votes including those west and south.

Senator Deneen of Illinois, continued to be mentioned but there was a suggestion that unless his delegation could support Hoover it would seriously handicap his chances. The senator himself was taking no interest in the affair but the Illinois delegation was talking it over and there were indications he would be put forward.

Governor Baker of Missouri and former Governor Hyde of the same state also were frequently mentioned during the vice presidential fight.

HARRY THAW ENJOYING NIGHT LIFE OF VIENNA

Vienna—(P)—Harry K. Thaw, whom great Britain regarded as an undesirable character and barred, is sampling the night life of Vienna. He intends to return to Paris shortly.

Thaw on his arrival here registered in an obscure hotel. He spent the afternoon of any administrative practice which may be inconsistent with Indian citizenship.

THE NEGRO

We renew our recommendation that the congress enact at the earliest possible date a federal anti-lynching law so that the full influence of the federal government may be wielded to exterminate this hideous crime.

HOME RULE

We believe in the essential unity of the American people. Sectionalism in any form is destructive of national life. The federal government should zealously protect the national and international rights of its citizens. It should be equally zealous to respect and uphold the rights of the states and to uphold the vigor and balance of our dual system of government.

The Republican party has always given its energies to supporting the government in this direction when any question has arisen.

There is a real need in the country today to revitalize fundamental principles. There is a real need of restoring the individual and local sense of responsibility and self-reliance; there is a real need for the people once more to grasp the fundamental fact that under our system of government they are expected to solve many problems of our day.

Let us ourselves through their municipal and state governments, and combat the tendency that is all too common to turn to the federal government as the easiest and least burdensome method of lightening their own responsibilities.

night until nearly 5 o'clock in the morning visiting cabarets and other such places of amusement. He went about unrecognized in his pursuit of pleasure.

FAIR WEATHER WILL LINGER HERE AWHILE

Appleton and vicinity is to experience another 24 hours of fair weather with slowly rising temperatures, according to predictions to weather predictions.

Fair weather with rising temperatures prevail throughout the middle west, with scattered showers and thunderstorms in the upper and lower lake regions. The winds promise to be satisfactory weather by centering in the west and southwest.

Temperatures for Thursday were 35 degrees above zero in the morning and 65 degrees above at noon.

GRETNNA GREEN IS YET A BUSY PLACE

Vicar's Complaint About No Marriages Means Nothing There

Gretna Green, Scotland—(P)—Whereas the vicar of a Middlesex village is making open complaint that there has not been a marriage in his parish for more than a year, Gretna Green, famous in song and story as the mecca of runaway couples, is enjoying traditional popularity as a marriage center. Nine marriages have taken place at the Gretna Green blacksmith's forge within one week this "season."

With the passing of the Marriage Act in 1856, which made it compulsory for one of the contracting parties to have been resident in Scotland for twenty-one days before the ceremony, a death blow was dealt to the indulgent custom of the little Scottish village of uniting young couples, fleeing from parental disapproval, at any hour of the day or night, "and no questions asked." Although the act did put an end to swift and unconsidered elopements, Gretna Green has continued to uphold its reputation for marriages, on the new legal basis.

The village is on the high road to Scotland, but lies out of the way of the main railway traffic. It is a picturesque Old World village, just over the border of Scotland.

CALLS MONEY THEFT "CIVILIZED CRIME"

Criminals Take French Money and Put Old Newspapers in Its Place

Paris—(P)—The sum of 1,500,000 francs, in 1000 and 500 notes, sealed in twenty envelopes enclosed in metal boxes with leaden seals, were shipped by the Bank of France to the Bank of Douala, Cameroon, West Africa. The packages were sent via Cariselles by boat to Dakar, Senegal and thence by caravan, camels to Douala.

When the bank at Douala opened the packages, seals unbroken, they were found to contain bundles of old newspapers instead of money.

The Surete Generale, or French detective department was called in and asked to investigate and hunt down the thieves.

The Minister of Colonies sent for M. Renard, Chief of the Surete Generale and offered to place at his disposal camels, horses and men to conduct investigation over the trail from Dakar to Douala, in darkest Africa.

"Our investigation will go no further than Dakar," replied the chief. "Surprised the Minister asked what made the chief so certain the money was not lost among the recent caravans."

"You see," the chief volunteered, "they are not civilized out that way; they are savages. This is a civilized crime."

DUTCHER CAN'T FIND PROHIBITION ISSUE AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

Seems to Be Taboo at Kansas City Although It Is an Important Item at Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Kansas City—Most of the important members of the politicians' union here are understood to feel that prohibition enforcement should not be made an issue at the conventions. The same is true at Houston.

Those who do business in Washington, however, probably will realize that it is an issue in the national capital, if nowhere else.

A recent weekend produced what appears to have been a new 48-hour record for arrests for violation of liquor laws and seizures of intoxicants in the District of Columbia. About 20 charges were lodged against scofflaws who had landed in the clutches of the cops.

There were 124 arrests for intoxication and four for driving automobiles in that condition. During the same 48 hours some 73 charges of sale, possession, transportation or manufacture of the stuff were entered on the books. Law-enforced 1500 quarts of alcohol, 1417 bottles of beer, 1100 gallons of mash, 306 quarts of whiskey, 117 bottles of gin, a little wine and brandy, two stills and four automobiles.

As usual, members of Congress and the cabinet went un molested. The same political scruples also know something about unemployment. It may be exaggerated, but for months this writer has been hearing from Washington citizens that a great deal of it existed there. A carpenter who runs the elevator at night in our building at Washington dropped into the office one day and reported that 3000 of the 7000 members of the local carpenters' union were out of work.

"When I started 30 years ago," said the ex-carpenter, "twelve hours was a day's work. Now it's eight hours. But even with that, there's not enough work. And they're taking it out on the older men. With more men than jobs, they're hiring the young fellows because they think they can get more work out of them and the older men can go hang."

Thus was stated a problem now seriously recognized by many men of affairs, some of whom believe that the only solution lies in an eventual seven-hour or six-hour day for labor. Another possible solution, already in effect in some industries—namely, automobile, manufacture and garment-making—is the five-day week.

Various forms of old-age insurance are now in effect. Bills have been introduced in Congress for old-age pensions, with no immediate prospects of passage.

The Democrats will doubtless mention "widespread unemployment" under Coolidge in their party platform, but the problem outlined is not considered sufficiently pressing to merit attention at either convention.

"That's the end of that," said a high prohibition enforcement official after Assistant Attorney General Mabel Willebrandt had finished testifying before the Senate campaign expenses committee. "If he had had any more, she would have spilled it."

Miss Willebrandt had told the senators about the personal finances of Frank J. Hale, former prohibition agent who blossomed out early this year as publisher of an anti-Hoover weekly in Washington at a cost of $400 or more a week and wouldn't tell the committee where the money came from. Miss Willebrandt implied that Hale had made his money as a prohibition agent and showed that men then associated with him had suddenly attained small fortunes. She had tried to have Hale fired, but she said he was saved by General Lincoln C. Andrews, then boss of prohibition enforcement.

This was the first time Miss Willebrandt had publicly expressed her venom against Andrews, but informed persons had been expecting it ever since Andrews resigned. All the way from the Anti-Saloon League headquarters to the Department of Justice it was known that Miss Willebrandt harbored a furious hatred and had tried hard to "get something on" him. Andrews' many friends have always explained that the lady detested Andrews because he refused to allow her to boss his job and said that she had a reputation for a consuming ambition and unusual vindictiveness. BOTH LIVED IN WHITE HOUSE the Anti-Saloon League and Miss Willebrandt's friends have whispered about Andrews is libelous—but no one has dared to say it publicly. Thus, it was believed when Miss Willebrandt took the stand that she would take the occasion to deliver a broadside against Andrews' administration of prohibition enforcement. Reporters told their editors to stand by for some hot stuff. But Andrews was only attacked by inference as a man who had refused to fire a man Miss Willebrandt believed to be dishonest. And it is believed in Washington, as the aforementioned enforcement official remarked, that "that's the end of that."

Ceremonies at the laying of the cornerstone of the American Red Cross building in Washington brought together chief justice of the United States supreme court, William Howard Taft, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, both former residents of the White House. They put on their best smiles for the photographer.

Nevertheless, Miss Willebrandt delivered a telling sock at Hale and the anti-Hoover weekly.

COUNTY OFFICIALS PUSH POOR CLAIM

Staidl and Jansen Secure Action on Part of Marinette Supervisors

Outagamie-co probably will be ahead $681 after next week as the result of a trip to Marinette taken by Stanley Staidl, assistant district attorney and Anton Jansen, Little Chute chairman of the county poor committee, recently. The purpose of the trip was to take up with Marinette-co officials a poor claim amounting to $681 which had been refused by the Marinette-co board.

A bill of $179.51 for the same case was allowed in 1926 by the Marinette supervisors who were of the opinion the second bill was a duplicate of the first and refused payment. After the matter was explained by Mr. Staidl the Marinette officials changed their attitude and will act on the matter next week. Local authorities had threatened legal action if the claim was refused consideration.

In order to accommodate our customers that cannot shop during the day we will keep our store open on Saturday nights, as usual. Store closed on Friday nights.—J. C. Penney Co.

FINISH ROAD BEFORE BUILDING NEW BRIDGE

Work on the new truss bridge over the Oconto river will be started by the Garvey-Weyenberg Construction company as soon as they complete the New London-Bear Creek road, now under construction.

The bridge is to be a riveted truss, 90 feet long with a 24 foot concrete road, across the river on county trunk line T, six miles east of Lakeview. The local company was awarded the contract last week by the Oconto county highway commission on a bid of $11,465. The next lowest bidder was the Wausau Iron Works with $11,658.15.

SUBWAY PROPONENTS WIN 7 TO 5 VICTORY AT COUNCIL MEETING

City Clerk Authorized to Advertise for Bids in Single-subject Session

Proponents of the Wisconsin subway won a 7 to 5 victory at an adjourned session of the city council Wednesday night on a motion that the city clerk be authorized to advertise for bids.

Subway discussion occupied the greater part of the meeting and other matters were hurriedly disposed of. Alderman Mark Catlin, first ward, led the opposing forces and was given strong support by Aldermen McGillan, Steinhauer, Vanderheyden and Brautigan while Thompson urged early construction of the subway.

Every councilman talked at least once and several of them were on the floor on a half dozen occasions. Safety was the biggest talking point of those who favored the project while the opposing members stressed the financial condition of the city, the possibilities that the routing of Highway 4y would be changed, the advantages of utilizing the old urban right of way for a road and the lack of necessity for a subway now that the interurban line has been discontinued.

A statement by Alderman Catlin

BUS LINE LICENSE GIVEN FREMONT MAN

Two bus lines in the vicinity of Appleton have been granted certificates of operation in the last few days, according to reports from Madison. One of the certificates went to Walter Arndt to operate between Fremont and Fremont station, the other to Herbert L. Bastian to operate between Green Bay and Brillion. Certificates are issued by the state railroad rate commission after a public hearing on the application.

that the whole affair had been brought about by a former mayor and a city official who "sneaked down to Madison and put the thing over without the council knowing what was going on," brought a storm of protest from Alderman Charles Thompson who declared that such was not the case and that everything connected with the subway had been open and above board.

Alderman G. T. Richard, Third ward, who favored immediate construction, asserted the subway was a part of the city's highway program, the same as the building of the Cherry-st bridge and other improvements. He said that to stop now would ruin the accomplishments of the past three years.

The final vote was Brautigan, Catlin, McGillan, Steinhauer and Vanderheyden against the subway, and Diderich, Gmeiner, Priebe, Relfke, Richard, Thompson and Vogt were for it.

Older Peoples' Eyes need Frequent Resting Spells

Madison—Older people should not use their eyes continuously too many hours. They should use their eyes as they do their legs—have resting spells of from fifteen minutes to half an hour. With young people this resting period is not so necessary, but for a person of sixty years, it should be adhered to with caution.

This was the advice given by the educational committee of the State Medical Society in a bulletin issued today. The announcement is an answer to many letters to the Society asking for information on the amount of reading which a person over sixty years of age can do.

"Use your eyes as you would your legs," declares the bulletin. At the age of sixty, the ordinary person would not go on a walk of ten miles, without plenty of stops for rest. Neither are you going to attempt to hike unless your shoes fit properly. Be sure that you have proper fitting glasses and then rest between periods of reading. Read for half an hour and then do something else for fifteen minutes before reading is resumed. The same applies to sewing.

Near work in an individual over sixty years of age will not lead to injury, provided the eyes are not exposed to begin with and if a rest from the close work is practiced at intervals, the bulletin states. For older persons the most common eye disease is cataract.

"In fully 87 per cent of the cases of uncomplicated cataract, under the conditions of modern surgery, useful vision is restored to the possessor of the cataract," continues the bulletin. "With these facts in mind, the fear of cataract diminishes almost to the vanishing point. And it should, for cataract is much more common than is generally supposed. Recent statistics have shown that 35 per cent of all people between the ages of 41 and 50 have more or less cloudiness of the lens, in other words, some form of beginning cataract.

"Between the ages of 51 and 60, 65 per cent of all people are so affected; between 61 and 70, about 75 per cent; and over 71, nearly 90 per cent. Of all of these cataracts, only a comparatively small number ever increase to the point where vision is interfered with. Therefore, if you are over 60 years of age and should be told that you have a cataract, don't go into the dumps, but remember that 75 per cent of all people of your age have the same condition, and also remember that only a limited number ever cause trouble with vision. Furthermore, if it is a cataract that has to be operated upon, keep in mind that from your standpoint, the operation is simple and is successful in over 95 per cent of the cases. And, moreover, we are not at all sure that cataract is in any way hereditary; so your children may never have it."

For the convenience of our customers our store will be open on Saturday nights, as usual. Store closed on Friday nights.—J. C. Penny Co.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
The summer she is 16, SALLY FORD, ward of the state orphanage, is "farmed out" to CLEM CARSON. She meets DAVID NASH, athlete and student, working on the Carson farm for the summer. When Carson makes remarks about David's friendship for Sally, David hits him. They run away and join a carnival. David as cook's helper and Sally as "Princess Lalla," crystal gazer.

In Capital City, location of the orphanage, Sally is recognized when the little orphans come trooping into her tent, chaperoned by a beautiful "Lady Bountiful." Quick action by the Barker diverts attention from Sally and saves her. Sally learns that the lady Bountiful is ENID BARR, wife of a wealthy New Yorker. The carnival moves to an adjoining state and Sally and David at last feel free from detection. One night Sally is petrified to see MRS. STONE, matron of the orphanage, coming toward her. She gives the distress signal and GUS, the Barker, helps Sally get away. Sally and David flee. They intend to be married. At the license bureau the clerk directs them to the "marrying parson" and they hurry away to find the parson is not at home and that they will have to wait two hours. NO GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX
During the two hours that they waited for the Reverend Mr. Greer, "the marrying parson," David and Sally sat stiffly side by side on a horsehair sofa, only their fingers touching shyly, listening to countless romances of eloping couples with which old Mrs. Greer regaled them in a kindly effort to help them pass the tedious time of waiting. Her daughter-in-law, recently widowed by the death of the only son of the family, trailed weakly in and out of the living room, her big, mournful black eyes devouring David's magnificent youth and vigor.

"You remind me of Sonny Bob," Mrs. Greer leaned forward in her arm chair to whisper to David. "Killed in the war he was, and Cora just can't become reconciled. Seems just like the only pleasure she gets out of life now is acting as witness for weddings. Some where in the world there was a woman who was her mother, a woman who had not waited for the marriage ceremony before succumbing to just such love as that woman's unwanted daughter now felt for David."

Understanding and pity for that harassed, shamed, and lonely girl, her mother must have been just 16 years ago gushed suddenly into Sally's heart. If David had not been so fine, so tender, so good—she shivered and clung more tightly to his hand. In a few minutes she would be his wife and safe, safe from Mrs. Stone, the orphanage home the reformatory.

"I love Mr. Greer," Mrs. Greer beamed upon them and bustled from the room. She returned immediately, a plump hand resting affectionately on the shoulder of a tall, thin, stopped old man, whose sweet, bloodless, wrinkled face glowed with a faint radiance of kindness and benediction.

"This is little Miss Sally Ford and David Nash, Papa," Mrs. Greer told him. "They've been waiting patiently for two hours to get married. I've been entertaining them the best I could with some of our very own romances. I often tell Papa we ought to write stories for the magazines."

"Well, what the 'marrying parson' rubbed his beautiful, thin hands together and smiled upon Sally and David. "You're pretty young, aren't you? But Mama and I believe in youthful marriages. I was 19 and she was 17 when we took the big step and we've never regretted it. You have your license, I presume."

David's hand shook noticeably as he drew the precious document from his breast pocket and offered it to the minister. Through old-fashioned gold-rimmed spectacles the minister studied the paper; briefly, his lips twitching slightly with a smile.

"Well, well, Mama," he glanced over his spectacles at the beaming wife, "everything seems to be in order. Where is Cora? She's going to enjoy this wedding enormously. The more she enjoys it, the more she weeps," he explained twinkling at Sally and David. When Mrs. Greer had left the room, the old minister bent his eyes gravely upon David.

"Do you know of any real reason why you two children should not be married, my boy?"

pleness, family an honored place in society as the wife of David Nash—A bell shrilled loudly, shattering the beauty and the solemnity of the greatest moment in Sally's life. Behind her, on the soft, she heard the faint rustle of Mrs. Greer's stiff silk skirt, whispers as the two witnesses conferred. The preacher's voice, which had faltered, went on more hurriedly, flustered:

"Do you, David, take this woman—Again the bell clattered, a long, shrill, angry demand the preacher's voice faltered again, the momentous question left half asked. He looked at his wife over the top of his spectacles and nodded slightly Mrs. Greer's skirts rustled apologetically as she hurried out of the room Sally forced her eyes to travel upward to David's stern, set young eyes; their eyes looked for a moment, Sally's piteous with fright, then David answered that half-asked question loudly, emphatically, as if with the words he would defeat fate:

"I do!" A clamor of voices suddenly filled the little ante hall beyond the marrying parson. Sally, recognizing both of the voices, was galvanized to swift, un-Sallylike initiative. Stepping swiftly out of the circle of David's arm, but still clinging to his hand, she sprang toward the preacher, her eyes blazing, her face pinched with fear and drained of all color.

"Please go on!" she gasped. "Please, Mr. Greer. Don't let them stop us now! Ask me—Do you take this man—? Please, I do, I do!"

"Sally, darling—" David was trying to restrain her, his voice heavy with pity. "I'm sorry, children," the old preacher shook his head. "I shall have to investigate this disturbance, but I promise you to continue with the marriage ceremony if there is no legal impediment to your marriage. Just stand where you are."

The door was flung open and Mrs. Stone, matron of the orphanage, strode into the room, panting, her heavy face red with anger and exertion. She was followed by a flustered, weeping Mrs. Greer and by a smartly dressed little figure that lay in the doorway. Even in that first place where she was trapped, the half-performed wedding ceremony would not be completed, she was conscious of that shock of amazement and delight which always tingled along her nerves whenever she had seen Enid Barr. But why had Enid Barr joined in the cruel pursuit of a luckless orphan whose worst sin had been running away from charity? If David's arms had not been so tightly about her, she would have tried to run away again.

"Are we too late?" Mrs. Stone demanded in the loud, harsh voice that had been a whip-lash upon Sally Ford's sensitive nerves for 12 years. "Are they married?"

"I was reading the service when you interrupted, madam," the Reverend Mr. Greer said with surprising severity. "And I shall continue it if you cannot show just cause why these two young people should not be married. May I ask who you are, madam?"

"Certainly! I am Mrs. Miranda Stone, matron of the State Orphan Asylum of Capital City, and Sally Ford is one of my charges; a minor ward of the state until her eighteenth birthday. She is only sixteen years old."

Understanding and pity for that harassed, shamed, and lonely girl, her mother must have been just 16 years ago gushed suddenly into Sally's heart. If David had not been so fine, so tender, so good—she shivered and clung more tightly to his hand. In a few minutes she would be his wife and safe, safe from Mrs. Stone, the orphanage home the reformatory.

"I love Mr. Greer," Mrs. Greer beamed upon them and bustled from the room. She returned immediately, a plump hand resting affectionately on the shoulder of a tall, thin, stopped old man, whose sweet, bloodless, wrinkled face glowed with a faint radiance of kindness and benediction.

"This is little Miss Sally Ford and David Nash, Papa," Mrs. Greer told him. "They've been waiting patiently for two hours to get married. I've been entertaining them the best I could with some of our very own romances. I often tell Papa we ought to write stories for the magazines."

"Well, what the 'marrying parson' rubbed his beautiful, thin hands together and smiled upon Sally and David. "You're pretty young, aren't you? But Mama and I believe in youthful marriages. I was 19 and she was 17 when we took the big step and we've never regretted it. You have your license, I presume."

and cannot be married without the permission of her guardians, the trustees of the orphanage. Is it clear that you cannot go on with the ceremony?" she concluded in her hard, brisk voice.

"Is this true, Sally?" the old man asked Sally gently. "Yes," she nodded, then laid her head wearily and hopelessly upon David's shoulder.

"Mrs. Stone, David began to plead with passionate intensity, one of his hands trembling upon Sally's bowed head, "for God's sake let us go on with this marriage! I love Sally and she loves me. I have never harmed her and I never will. It's not right for you to drag her back to the asylum to spend two more years of dependence upon charity. I can support her, I'm strong. I love her—"

"Will you kindly leave the room and let me talk with Sally?" Mrs. Stone cut across his appeal ruthlessly. "I may as well tell you, Mr. Greer, that my friend here, Mrs. Barr, a very rich woman, intends to adopt this girl and provide her with all the advantages that wealth makes possible. She has been hunting for Sally for weeks, and it is only through her persistence and the power of her wealth commands that we have been able to prevent this ridiculous marriage today."

"We shall be glad to let you talk privately with the young couple," the old minister answered with punctilious politeness. "Come, Mama, Cora!"

"Will you please leave the room also, Mr. Nash?" Mrs. Stone went on ruthlessly, without taking time to acknowledge the old man's courtesy. Sally's arms clung more tightly to David. "He's going to stay, Mrs. Stone," she gasped, amazed at her own temerity. "If you don't let me marry David now, I shall marry him when I am eighteen. I don't want to be adopted. I only want David—"

"I think the boy had better stay," Enid Barr's lovely voice, strangely not at all arrogant now, called from the doorway.

When the minister and his wife and daughter-in-law had left the room, Enid Barr softly closed the door against which she had been leaning, as if she had little interest in the drama taking place, and walked slowly toward David and Sally, who were still in each other's arms. Gone from her small, exquisite face was the look of aloof indifference, and in its place were embarrassment, wistful appeal, tenderness and, to Sally's bewilderment, the most profound humility.

"Oh, Sally, Sally!" The beautiful contralto voice was husky with tears. "Can't you guess what I want you? I've hunted you down like this? I'm your mother, Sally."

In the next chapter Sally hears her mother's story.

Thrilling Performance

-The World's Most Luxurious Low

Offering marvelous new bodies by Fisher, styled with all the artistry and originality for which the Fisher name is famous... and providing all the brilliant performance advantages of an improved valve-in-head motor—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is hailed throughout America as the world's most luxurious low-priced automobile!

Built on a wheelbase of 107 inches, 4 inches longer than before... and incorporating scores of vital contributions to every phase of motoring enjoyment, this spectacular car marks a significant epoch in the development of motor car transportation—one of the greatest achievements in the history of the automotive industry.

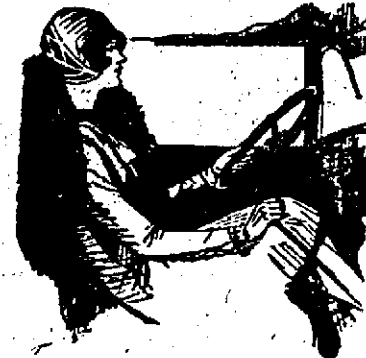

New Standards of Luxury

Here is all the superb styling, all the advanced engineering and all the high quality construction demanded in the finest automotive creations—to a completeness of detail astounding in a low-priced car. Smartness, dash and distinction... power, speed and smoothness... comfort, safety and driving ease—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet combines them all to a degree that establishes an entirely new standard of luxury in the low-price field.

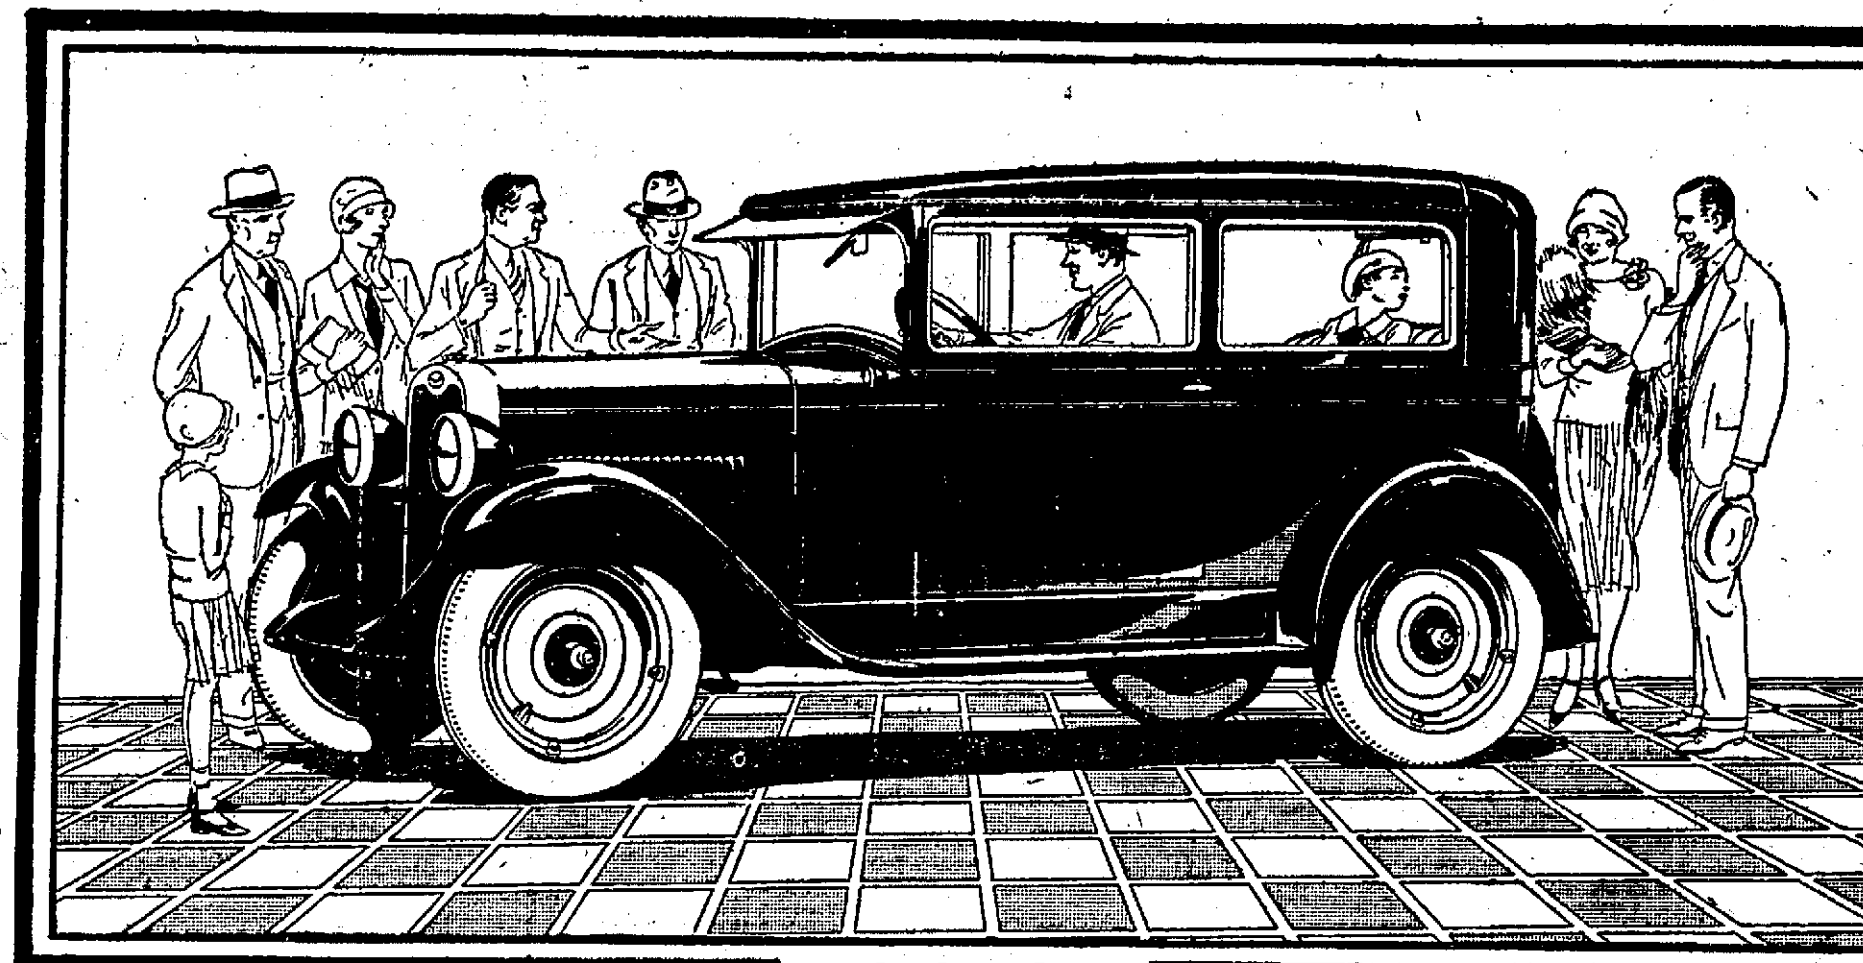

Every model is worthy of detailed comparison with the world's most exclusive creations—not only in brilliance of execution, but in richness and completeness of appointment as well. The new Fisher bodies are beautifully beaded and paneled, and finished in harmonizing colors of genuine, lustrous Duco. Interiors are impressively luxurious—with rich upholstery, deep restful seats, and a distinctive new instrument panel... indirectly lighted and completely enclosed! Graceful narrow front pillars, wide windows and doors, and hardware of period pattern lend final touches of custom elegance.

Sensational Performance

But not until you take the wheel and drive can you grasp the full significance of this greatest Chevrolet achievement—for only then can you know the thrilling performance results of the most remarkable chassis advancements that Chevrolet has ever announced.

As a result of numerous vital motor improvements, there have been added to Chevrolet's world-famous dependability and economy a responsiveness to the throttle—a smoothness, quietness and safety of operation, that are a revelation... not only to veteran Chevrolet owners, but to those accustomed to driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Prominent among these engineering advancements are alloy "invar-strut" constant clearance pistons—here used for the first time in a low-priced car... hydro-laminated camshaft gears... mushroom type valve tappets... and a complete new steel motor enclosure.

Amazing Ease of Control

And coupled with this amazing engine performance is a type of riding and driving comfort almost unbelievable in a low-priced automobile. The lengthened wheelbase has made possible a new method of weight distribution that results in amazing balance and roadability. Four semi-elliptic shock absorbers er springs—that are located parallel to the frame and constitute 84% of the wheel base—smooth out the roughest stretches of highway. And a new ball bearing worm-and-gear steering mechanism, which even includes ball bearings at the front axle knuckles, provides steering ease that is a source of constant delight.

And yet—in spite of its finer performance—in spite of the fact that it is roomier, more comfortable and more beautiful—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is offered at substantially lower prices... due to a public acceptance that carried Chevrolet to first place in the automotive industry for 1927, and to the enormous production economies of Chevrolet's 13 great factories. Never before has there been such an impressive example of value-giving in the automotive industry!

Drive The Car Yourself

No matter what car you may now be driving, no matter what cars you may have driven in the past—you owe it to yourself to take the wheel of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet... and drive!

The moment the motor is started, you'll sense the staunchness, sturdiness and balance so essential to care-free, comfortable motoring. But not until you've threaded the traffic of city streets... not until you've tried it on hills and deep-rutted roads... not until you've traveled the paved highways for mile after mile with wide open throttle—can you appreciate the full performance superiority of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet!

Visit your Chevrolet dealer today—and go for a demonstration. He'll gladly give you a ride—as far as you like, over roads of your own selection.

proved on the World's Greatest Proving Ground

Every feature of design and every phase of performance of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet has been proved by tens of thousands of miles of testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground—the greatest automotive testing laboratory in the world. Here, over roads of every type... on hills of every grade... and in every kind of weather the seasons bring—Chevrolet cars are driven day and night under the close supervision of General Motors engineers.

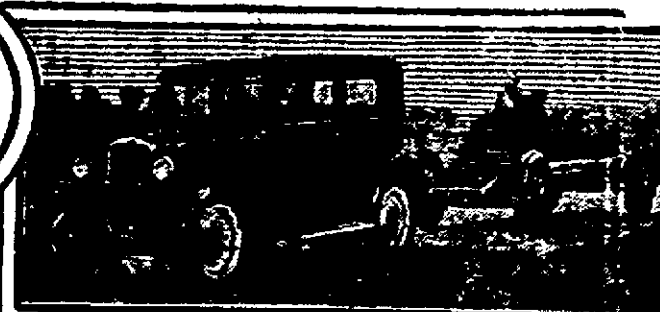

Power, speed, gasoline consumption, hill-climbing ability, endurance—all are tested and measured by means of ingenious instruments... many of them invented and built in the General Motors Research Laboratories. As a result of this ceaseless testing, every Chevrolet advancement is definitely proved before it is offered to the public—its stamina, endurance and performance absolutely assured!

This instrument measures the efficiency of Chevrolet brakes to insure safety and dependability.

An electric "fifth wheel" records slow and high speeds to the fraction of a mile per hour.

LEAGUE-LEADING REDS TAKE THIRD GAME FROM GIANTS

Cincinnati Team Whips Pennant Rival In Tenth To Hold Lead On Loop Top

Second-place Cardinals Also Win in Spite of Hornsby's Heavy Slugging

The Cincinnati bubble may burst, but the suspicion is that any such bursting probably will occur right in the faces of the Giants.

The Cincinnati host was in Philadelphia Thursday with three "Giant" scalps to show for four engagements at the Polo grounds. The Rhinelanders pulled out Wednesday's game, 5 to 3, in the tenth after permitting the Giants to climb into a tie with two runs in the eighth. The game was a pitcher's battle between Jack Hendricks and John McGraw, with Jack flashing four against only three for John.

Jakie May, who shut-out the Giants 3 to 0, on Sunday, failed in an iron-clad role. Carl Mayes and Ray Kolp appeared briefly while the big New York eighth was at its height. Eppa Rixey quieted the disturbance and remained to win when the Reds probed Dutch Henry for two runs in the tenth.

At Boston Rogers Hornsby drew in to the home run leadership of the National League by clubbing his thirtieth, and raised his personal batting figure to .418, but the Cardinals ran away with the ball game, 11 to 8.

CUBS LOSE ANOTHER

Charles Fieger probably escaped a reversal by the league head when Brooklyn won from the Cubs at Ebbets field, 7 to 2. With the Robins leading, 5 to 1, in the fifth, Bressler was on first with one out. Del Bissone raised a foul which Hartnett juggled three times and then caught, and Bressler, acting within his rights, tagged up and raced for second the moment the ball first touched the catcher's glove.

Umpire Hart at first base ruled Bressler out when Hartnett threw to Griffin, but Umpire Jordan at third called Hart to reverse the ruling. Rigger, the umpire-in-chief, then changed the decision back again and Bressler was officially but incorrectly out.

The Phillies ended the spurt of the Pirates by rallying against Burleigh Grimes in the ninth for three runs which won, 4 to 3. Art Jahn, recent Giant, broke up the game with a double.

YANKS, MACKS WIN

The American League situation remains a mystery. The Yankees outlasted the White Sox to win, 8 to 6, in a game notable for the absence of home runs. Waite Hoyt went the route and worked hard for his eighth victory of the season. Ted Lyons survived a savage Yankee attack, the first and only pitched the full game.

Old Jack Quinn flashed back into form at Detroit, and the Athletics won easily, 12 to 5.

Washington rallied in the ninth at Cleveland, but fell just short enough to enable the Indians to win, 3 to 2, on some good pitching by Shaute, much better pitching than the score indicates. Horace Lisenbee was knocked out by the Indians.

The St. Louis Browns had to go ten innings to nose out the Red Sox, 9 to 8, in a game marked by six home runs in three innings.

FIND NEW METHOD OF HITTING TENNIS BALL

New York—The New York Times Wednesday says that a new method of hitting a tennis ball has been discovered by a California professional, Dwight Douglas, by which the ball can be given unusual speed without the loss of control. Announcement of the discovery was made in a letter circulated among the tennis clubs of this section by William M. Fischer, secretary of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association.

William T. Tilden, captain of American Davis Cup team, is reported to have used it in the doubles match against Japan.

Sewell Attempts To Break Scott's Long Game Mark

BY BILLY EVANS

Records in sports are made to be broken.

When Babe Ruth made 59 home runs during the season of 1921, I was firmly convinced he had established a record that would stand for all time.

Then along came Ruth just six years later to propel an even 60 home runs out of the ball park. Unquestionably, this super feat on the part of Babe Ruth was made possible by Lou Gehrig. You ask the reason why? Simply this: Gehrig was so hard to fool that the pitchers in many instances preferred to gamble with Ruth rather than pass him up for Gehrig.

Another record which I had placed in the same super class as Ruth's 59 home runs was the playing of 1307 consecutive games by Shortstop Everett Scott. It is the unusual for an infielder to go almost nine full seasons without suffering an injury.

Scott was physically able to have continued on his record-breaking performance had not Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees removed him from the lineup because his club was in a slump.

Scott's record of 1307 games is all the more remarkable because no player in the game takes more chances and is more liable to injury than the shortstop. Scott just seemed to be immune from injury.

On one occasion when he spent an off day with his family, prior to opening a series in Chicago, he missed his train from the old home town and was forced to spend something like $20 taxi fare to keep a record clean. He arrived in about the fifth inning of the game.

In there a chance that some player will eventually surpass the mark of

PLAYS HERE

Charles Weston, well-known billiard star, will be in Appleton June 19 and 20 to give a series of exhibitions in instruction to amateur players and the arranging of tournaments will feature his work here.

BILLIARD CHAMP IN LOCAL EXHIBIT

Charles Weston Shows Fine Points of Game Here June 19-20

Charles Weston, famous pocket billiard and three cushion player, and former World's champion at pocket billiards will demonstrate to local billiard fans the fundamentals and the points of billiards in a series of exhibitions at the Olympia Billiard Parlors on the afternoon and evening of June 19 and 20. Mr. Weston is sent here by the National Billiard Association of America and is playing under the direction of C. A. Storer, director of players for the association.

His exhibitions will deal with instructions to amateur players. He for many years has taken part in the national championship events with such stars as Greenleaf, Rudolph, Taborski, Natalie and others.

During his stay he will promote billiard tournaments for the local players. At the same time he is to organize an elimination pocket billiard league, to be played between local players as well as players from adjoining cities.

HUGGINS PICKS GIANTS IN NATIONAL LOOP RACE

Miller Huggins, the pensive philosopher of the New York Yankees, under duress will sometimes break out with a good solid opinion of his own.

One recent rainy day the New York scribes backed him into a corner and made threats on his life if he refused to name the National League pennant winner for them.

Pleading that it was too tough a job the little fellow nevertheless came through with the statement that he liked the Giants.

"I haven't seen any of them play this year but I'd call the Giants if I had to," Huggins said.

Under similar circumstances Huggins called the Cardinals in 1926 and this time last year he pulled out the Pirates.

PETE LATZO SLUGS LOMSKI TO DEFEAT

Scranton Miner Has Rival at Mercy Until He Is Fouled in Sixth

New York—(AP)—Victory over Leo Lomski, light-heavyweight of Aberdeen, Wash., appeared Thursday to have clinched for Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, another shot at his arch rival, Mickey Walker, king of the middleweights.

Reeling about the ring under a barrage of left and right hooks that seemed about to finish him any moment, Lomski drove a full right deep into Latzo's groin in the sixth round of their ten round match at Ebbets field Wednesday night and was promptly disqualified for fouling. Lomski has been scheduled to battle Walker in a non-title ten round go in the big National League ball park July 4.

Lazo scaled 170 pounds Wednesday night. "After the first two rounds, during which Lomski's right hand dug deep in the Scranton miner's body, Pete, battered Leo's head with curling left and right hooks and had him at his mercy when the low blow was struck."

The 18,000 fans howled Lomski out of the ring in derision after the low blow, which came one minute 22 seconds after the sixth. Lomski twice previously had landed punches on Latzo's body that forced Pete to complain to the referee.

BARNES CANDIDATE FOR OLYMPIC AGAIN

The winner of the pole vault at the Paris Olympic games in 1924, who also holds the world's record in the pole vault, is a candidate for Olympic honors again this year.

He is Leo Barnes, brilliant pole vaulter the past three years at the University of Southern California. Barnes won this event at the Paris games with a vault of 12 feet 11 inches. At that time, he was just out of high school. He made the world's record a few weeks ago when he topped Sablin Carr's 14 foot leap by one inch.

The Olympic champion has shown steady improvement in his favorite event since the last Olympics and is expected to battle with Sablin Carr, of Yale, for first place at Amsterdam this summer.

Barnes lives in Los Angeles. He is 21 years old and was a senior at Southern California this year. He weighs 150 pounds and lacks four inches of six feet in height. He has worked his way through school and while doing so assisted in supporting his family as his father has been an invalid for years.

Florida Star Joins Braves
Cecil Beck, who for two years was the best athlete-scholar at the University of Florida, has decided to join the Boston Braves. He captained the Florida team this year.

Was Pitcher in College
Bib Falk, Chicago outfielder, was a pitcher for three years in college, but was converted into an outfielder when he first joined the White Sox because he could hit.

Montreal—Tony Canzoneri, world's featherweight champion, defeated George Chabot, Montreal (10).

CHAMP AT 11

The charming little miss pictured above has more than a great tennis name. She has the talent that goes with it and so much talent that she promises to attain heights comparable to Helen Wills. She is only eleven years old but she is the girl champion of Southern California. Her name is Dorothy Bundy. Her mother was the celebrated May Sutton, several times national champion and the first American entry to win the Wimbledon championship. Her father is Tom Bundy, also a celebrated national in his day. She gets her good looks from her mother and dad.

ART HUMPHREY TAKES CHARGE OF PLAYGROUND

Arthur Humphrey, Lawrence college star, will take charge of the First ward school playgrounds this week, according to A. C. Denny, city play director. "Art" will succeed Harold "Pete" Briesse, former Viking athlete star, who is forced to give up the work because of other business arrangements.

Humphrey won his letter as a half back on the Viking grid squad last year and as a three-event man in track. He returns for both sports this year. In track he runs the quarter mile and heaves the shot and discus, excelling in the latter event. In the state meet he took second in the discus after holding first place until the final throw of one of his opponents.

Kansas City—Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. D., won from Jackie Kane, Chicago (10).

BURKE, MADDEN ON FONDY FIGHT CARD

Well-known Heavyweights Battle at Fountain City, July 4

Fond du Lac—With less than three weeks to pass before July Fourth, the date set for Matchmaker John G. Brunkhorst's big outdoor fight program at the county fairgrounds, the Fond du Lac promoter Wednesday sent articles to Bartley Madden, Irish heavyweight champion and Marty Burke to appear in the windup event of the show.

Madden is reputed to be a box office attraction. Known as the lion of the prize ring, he has only recently returned from a successful European tour. He has lost but two decisions in his entire ring career.

Here are what Irish papers say about Madden's ability as a boxer: "Dublin Herald, Dublin, Ireland—"Punch punch for 20 rounds, Tom Heeney and Bartley Madden fight. Never have we seen heavyweights that fought as fast as bantams. Heeney received the decision, but in our minds Madden was sent to the verdict."

Dublin Independent, Dublin, Ireland—"Madden was entitled to a draw with Tom Heeney. Both men fought like wild cats for 20 rounds." Madden is a great fighter and stands ready at any time to meet Tom Heeney, Jack Sharkey, Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudum, Jack De la Hoya or George Godfrey. Madden is a fighter of ability and his showing was not Heeney was more than a surprise to that fighter who is scheduled to meet Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship of the world.

GREENVILLE BALLERS SEEK BASEBALL GAMES

Hortonville—In a 5-inning baseball game played last Sunday at Redfield, team and the Greenville Cubs, Redfield won by a score of 4 to 3. The game was the second game of a double header as Redfield defeated Ogdensburg in the first game, 14 to 7.

Redfield scored in the second and third innings, and the Cubs made all their runs in the fifth, starting this inning by leading the bases with none out. Batteries for the Cubs were Sommers and Hofer.

Next Sunday the Cubs take on the strong Grange team at Maple View. A real battle is expected as these teams have been rivals for years.

At this date the Cubs still have a few dates on their schedule, and would like to hear from teams in this locality. Games can be arranged by writing W. C. Schultz, Hortonville, Wis.

Oakland Gets Star Athlete
Jim Tunney, no relation to Gene, has joined the Oakland Pacific Coast League club. He was a star footballer at a Denver school.

GOODIES TEMPT COED ATHLETES, SO THEY LOSE THEIR LETTERS

Fremont, Neb.—Pies, cakes, candy and "late dates" mean more to Midland College co-eds than monograms indicative of outstanding athletic accomplishment.

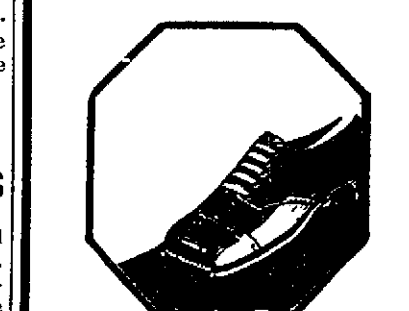

Officials of the college announced last fall that for the first time in the history of the school letters would be awarded co-eds participating in athletics provided they would abstain from pie, cake, and candy and retire by 11 o'clock during the season of sport in which they were participating.

No monograms were awarded Midland co-eds this year!

FIRST WARD BACHELORS CHALLENGE HENPECKED

Single men of the First ward, captained by Herbert Lutz, former Appleton high school, three-sport star, have challenged married men of the district to the annual single-married men's softball game. The affair started two years ago and has developed such a feud that it has become an annual event with rivalry intense. The game, if the challenge is accepted, will be played at 6:30 next Wednesday evening at the First ward grounds.

BREWER TWIRLERS CUT INDIAN LEAD

Milwaukee Beats League Leaders for Second Straight Day, 1-0

Chicago—(AP)—Bruno Betzel and his Indianapolis Indians, were on the warpath Thursday scouting for runs. For 21 consecutive innings the Indians have failed to produce a run and if they fall again Thursday they may topple from first place in the American Association flag race.

Milwaukee pitchers are to blame for this slump. The Brewers have shut out Indianapolis two days straight and for the last three innings of Monday's game. The Indians who were shut out Wednesday 1 to 0, are only a half game ahead of the Toledo Mudhens, who held their pace by defeating St. Paul 10 to 3, Wednesday.

Kansas City was rained out at Louisville, but went into a tie for third place with St. Paul, while Minneapolis defeated Columbia, 4 to 3, to remain tied with Milwaukee for the top of second division.

Spencer Harris led the Miller attack, pounding out his sixteenth home run of the year, a double that a sacrifice fly which produced three runs.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

in the blindfold cigarette test

Famous star selects OLD GOLD

"One cigarette of the four I smoked in the blindfold test was like shooting a scene successfully after a whole series of failures. It just 'clicked' and I named it as my choice. It was Old Gold. Which clears up a mystery, for the supply of Old Golds in my Beverly Hills home is constantly being depleted. It seems that Strongheart and Rin-tin-tin are the only motion picture stars who don't smoke them."

MR. CHAPLIN was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like the best?"

How does OLD GOLD do it? What's the secret of OLD GOLD's winning charm? The answer is very simple. Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse, heavy top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe heart-leaves give OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. That's why so many people choose them. And that's why you too can pick them . . . even in the dark.

TITLE BATTLE IN JUNIOR BALL LOOP

Cubs, Juniors in Most Important Game of Season Friday

STANDINGS	W. L. Pct.
Appleton Juniors	4 0 1.000
Appleton Cubs	2 1 .675
Fourth Ward Cubs	1 2 .333
St. Joe Tigers	0 4 .000

Only one game will be played Friday evening in the Appleton Junior American Legion Baseball League, but it will be THE game of the loop season and should attract a large crowd of fans, interested in sports for boys, to Brandt park. The Appleton Juniors and Appleton Cubs, league leaders, clash in the championship game.

At present the Juniors lead the loop with a perfect record, having won four games and lost none, while the Cubs have won three and lost one, that being a hard-fought battle with the Juniors that was undecided until the final out. The Juniors won by three scores after getting the breaks most of the way and the Cubs are out for revenge.

A Cub win will tie the loop standings at 4-1 and will cause an extra game to be played off for the championship while a Juniors win will clinch the title for that team. As soon as the banner is decided the all-star team which will represent the One Johnson post in the district league tournament in July will be announced, it being composed of 14 boys of the four local league teams picked by the umpires and Edward Sternard, league president, as the best at their positions. If the team wins the district meet it will enter a state contest. The state contest leads to a regional contest and a battle for national honors.

Two of the best youthful hurlers of the city will oppose each other in the big game with Murphy of the Juniors being given a slight edge over Priebe of the Cubs. Both have good breaks and a good fast ball and both have trouble with left-hand batters. Pope will receive Murphy's throws and Holterman will catch for Priebe. Many of the possibilities for the all-star team are included in the lineups of the two rival nines.

Lack Of Discipline Bad For 1928 Olympic Squad

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

Lack of discipline, because there was no central authority and disregard of small but important details in the arrangements handicapped the American athletes who were successful in winning the 1924 Olympic games by a comfortable margin. It should have been a much larger margin.

It has been pointed out many times that better ends could be obtained if the team should be handled in units instead of one big unit. That is to say that the management would be easier if the swimmers, the track and field athletes, the boxers, wrestlers, fencers, etc., were not all thrown together. This could be done but it would take much more money and for that reason would not be practical.

With all the athletes together social distinctions are drawn. Athletes of one group look down upon athletes of another class. The Yale rowing crew, for instance, would not live with the team in Paris and had its own exclusive quarters. They were entitled to it, however, as they paid the bills, but it caused hard feelings.

There were many cases of petty jealousies around the camp and the boxing squad was suspected just because they were boxers. Some of the wrestlers made a show out of themselves in public places in Paris and the whole squad was looked down upon for it.

The athletes who lived in the "Olympic village" were looked upon as pets and less favored lads in the big camp thought they were entitled to go their own way in like fashion. There was no care taken in allotting space to the athletes. The boxers and wrestlers who engaged in night competition would get back to camp late. There would be nothing to eat and they would raise a row about it and awaken other athletes who needed the rest for the next day's competition.

Some of the athletes who had finished their competition and were allowed to break training were quarantined with athletes in training and naturally the care-free boys could not be expected to sit around like they were in a church. There should have been separate places for non-combatants.

Athletes could sneak off to Paris and if they missed the last bus for the camp they could go down and share a bunk with an athlete in the "village" and wake up the whole village.

The night before one of the most important relay races, two of the star competitors were up all night in Joe Zelli's place in the Montmartre, but they went on the next day and helped break the world's record. So, under such circumstances when athletes were not training and did their work just as well the coaches could say nothing. But others tried the same loose way of living, failed to make good and would not accept any criticism because the stars were doing it.

There are reasons to believe, however, that no such loose discipline will exist this year in Amsterdam. Lawson Robertson, the head coach, already has warned the candidates for the team that they will be forced to obey, and Amsterdam will not offer the temptations that Paris had. The Olympic expedition this year has been planned in a more business-like way. Robertson was sent to Holland last year to look over the situation and his recommendations were adopted in whole by the committee. The team will be quarantined on the ship that takes it to Holland, and that will give the opportunity for close supervision and now that Robertson seems to have been given the proper authority it is a cliché that he will exercise it. And there will not be a man on the squad too big physically to give him any back talk.

Only Once Below 300
In twelve seasons of regular play in the big leagues, Rogers Hornsby has hit below 300 only once. That was in 1915 when his average was only .281.

Would Rather Play Football
Outfielder Prices of the University of Chicago baseball team had a chance to join the Brooklyn club this summer but turned it down so he could play football next fall.

No Interest in Pro Game
Although big league scouts sought their services, Pitcher Hamazaki and Outfielder Miyake of the Kelo team from Japan refused all offers and said they would return to their native country to play baseball.

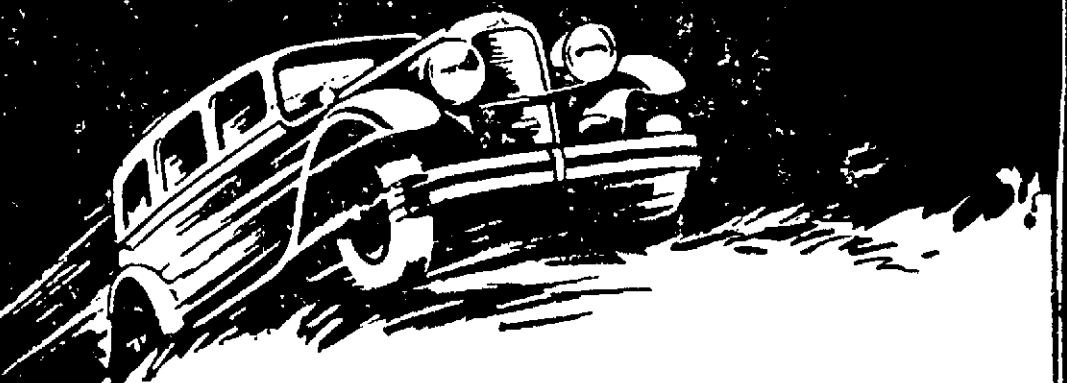

It Is Sports-For-All
Approximately 2,200 students at Texas A. and M. participated in the inter-mural sports program of that institution this year, it was announced recently. This set a new record.

Travels With Yankees
George Manfredi, N. Y. U. star, is traveling with the Yankees this summer and may sign with them at the end of the 1928 college year. He holds great promise as a pitcher.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER

Tops Uniontown's famous hill at 60-mile speed

Smashes all records!

World's Champion Car Levels Mountain Grades

OVER the top of Uniontown Hill at 60 miles an hour! That's the spectacular performance of a strictly stock model Studebaker Commander Sedan, sweeping aside decisively the best previous record of 51 miles an hour.

And that is not all! As further clinching assurance of The Commander's unmatched mountain climbing ability, it later swept up the heart-breaking, tortuous grade and over the top at 31 miles an hour, with 14 persons swarming upon its running boards (a total of 2296 pounds).

Automobile editors of Pittsburgh newspapers were passengers in The Commander and certified the exact speeds attained. Pittsburgh police certified the accuracy of the speedometer. Mayor L. S. Crawford of Uniontown and scores of spectators observed the tests before dawn on May 26.

"A Ball of Fire"

—that's what one owner calls his Commander. "A 'hill hound'—knocks the 'l' out of altitude," writes another. "If my Commander had claws it could climb trees," declares a third. When this World's Champion car can be bought for $1435 f. o. b. factory, why be content with less?

40 Miles an Hour the Day You Buy It

Studebaker engineering genius, quality materials, precision manufacture and rigid inspections, permit you to drive your Commander or any other Studebaker-built car 40 miles an hour the day you buy it—and at top speed hour after hour later on. You need change motor oil but once in 2,500 miles—and President, Commander and Dictator models require chassis lubrication only after each 2,500 miles.

Studebaker has proved the speed, endurance and power of every one of its four great lines of cars—The President Straight Eight, The Commander, The Dictator, and the Erskine Six. In four price fields—$795 to $2485—Studebaker offers you champion cars—each backed by Studebaker's 76 years of manufacturing integrity.

The Commander
$1435 to $1625

85 horsepower 72 miles per hour
World's Champion car—25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes. Nothing else on earth ever traveled so far so fast.

The Dictator
$1195 to $1395

70 horsepower 67 miles per hour
5000 miles in less than 4800 consecutive minutes—a record for stock cars priced below $1400.

The Erskine
$795 to $965

It was amazing, however, how these early Britons kept their craft afloat in the roughest seas.

WISCONSIN POTATO GROWERS DECLARE WAR ON DISEASE

USE DISINFECTANT ON SEEDS IN EARLY AND LATE PLANTING

Dipdust Controls Rhizoctonia, Black Leg, Scab and Premature Rotting

BY W. F. WINSETT

Dipdust, an organic mercury disinfectant for the treatment of seed potatoes, will be tried out by a number of growers in several counties of northeastern Wisconsin this spring on seed for late planting. Quite a number are also trying the treatment on early seed.

Whatever may be the comparative effects of Dipdust and other kinds of potato seed treatment, Dipdust has the advantage of harmless application to cut or uncut seed.

Dipdust controls Rhizoctonia, black leg, scab and organisms which cause the premature rotting of the seed.

When seed potatoes are immersed in the Dipdust solution a thin film of the disinfectant is said to cover the entire tubers and to destroy the surface-borne organisms of scab and black-leg and other organisms that cause the premature rotting of the seed. Dipdust also improves the stand and the vigor of the individual plants, increases the yield, and helps to produce a cleaner and more easily marketable crop.

One pound of Dipdust is sufficient to treat from 15 to 20 bushels of potatoes. The seed may be treated either before or after cutting. Treatment after cutting the seed is preferred on account of the protection it gives to the cut, exposed surfaces of the seed. Before treating cut seed, it should be allowed to stand in the shade until the cut surfaces have dried. A barrel or a vat may be used as a container in which to treat the seed. To save the solution, a drainboard may be used to support the baskets of seed after the dipping. Wire baskets are the most satisfactory but any sort of basket may be used. Dipdust is used at the rate of 1 pound to 2½ gallons, or 10 pounds to 25 gallons of water. Four Dipdust slowly onto the surface of the water and whip the water with an egg beater 'till the while.

CROSS BRED STRAIN PRODUCES GOOD BEEF

State College of Agriculture Sees Chance for Development of Baby Beeves

Madison—(AP)—The state college of agriculture is demonstrating how a dairy herd may produce baby beeves that will command beef-type prices on the market.

For two years it has experimented in the breeding of Aberdeen Angus sires to Holstein cows and has produced a cross-bred strain with all the desirable beef qualities.

The chief advantage of such a plan as pointed out by J. G. Fuller, beef cattle specialist at the college, lies in the fact that dairy herds may become producers of baby beef cattle simply by the use of Aberdeen-Angus sires.

Dairy farmers who wish to cut down on milk production without decreasing the size of the herd, find the plan advantageous. Particularly is this true, Mr. Fuller said, in the western part of the state where there is a number of the state's beef cattle.

The offspring of such crossbreeding have much of the outward appearance of the Angus sire. The black coloring "always predominates over the white of the Holstein mother."

Angus cattle have long been recognized in the markets as desirable beef. Mr. Fuller said, The cross-bred strain inherits the good reputation of its Angus sires.

In cooking tests in which the department of home economics conducted, steaks from carcasses of Holstein Angus and cross-bred baby beeves were served. The cattlemen eating the steaks found the crossbred beef compared favorably with those from pure-bred Angus.

A dozen or more farmers throughout the state have made plans to put into practice in their herds the results of the experiments at the college.

"A good-sized milk-producing cow, the kind that could be relied upon to give about 6,000 pounds of milk a year, or nurse two or three calves, is

Federal Dairy Bureau Revives Research Work

Appointment of Prof. O. E. Reed (left) as new chief of the federal bureau of dairy industry releases Dr. L. A. Rogers, acting chief (right), who will resume his duties as head of the dairy research laboratories. Professor Reed succeeds Dr. C. W. Larson (at desk), who resigned to become managing director of the National Dairy Council.

BY FRANK I. WELLER

Washington—(AP)—Important research work, interrupted for nine months by the resignation of Dr. C. W. Larson as head of the federal bureau of dairy industry, will be resumed in September when Prof. O. E. Reed becomes chief.

Fundamental research, necessary to the bureau's administrative progress, never has lessened, but Professor Rogers' arrival will release Dr. L. A. Reed, acting chief, so that he again may direct affairs of the research laboratories from which he was banished.

Dr. Rogers is regarded by American dairy interests as one of the world's foremost bacteriologist and dairy research experts. His work has included experiments on basic viscosity of ice cream, use of pure cultures in making cheese, and methods of making dairy by-products.

An experiment of wide interest is the determination of the effect of storage of skim-milk powder on its ability to improve a loaf of bread. Some of the preliminary results on the effect of high temperatures on the baking quality of milk powders have been confirmed.

Scientific work in the bureau has been strengthened by selection of Professor Reed as its new chief. In making the appointment Secretary of Agriculture Jardine said the professor is generally recognized as one of the outstanding men in the United States in the field of dairy research and education. He has been professor of dairy husbandry and head of the dairy department at the Michigan state college of agriculture since 1921. He held similar positions at the "Kansas state agricultural college and at Purdue university. In 1925 he was selected president of the American Dairy Science association.

Fundamental research concerning the problems of dairy in all its branches from the breeding of product cows through the farm and factory production and processing of milk, and milk products, to studies of the nutritional value of dairy products, already has been strengthened and enlarged by Dr. Larson. It long has been Dr. Larson's contention that an additional 2,000,000 persons each year for the next 40 years could be supplied with as much milk as it now used per capita with out adding to the number of cows in the dairy herds. If each of America's 22,000,000 dairy cows would produce 100 pounds more milk each year.

Selective breeding and scientific feeding frequently has resulted in an average annual increase of 200 pounds of milk, and if only half as much gain could be made in herds generally the increased milk supply from the present number of cows would be the sort of cow to produce calves," Mr. Fuller said.

"Part of the herd of cows can be hand-milked, and the remainder can be permitted to nurse calves which are to be developed and marketed for baby beeves," he pointed out in speaking of the advantages that dairy owners can obtain from cross breeding his Holstein with Aberdeen Angus sires.

CATTLE FOR BEEF WOULD BRING BIG RETURNS TO FARM

University of Wisconsin Says Switch from Dairy Herd Could Easily Be Made

Madison—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin has "invented" the combination cow.

That is to say, through scientific breeding a few Wisconsin cows have been returned to that status from which most of them were bred in America—serving both as milkers and beef supply.

Hunting a profitable method of producing beef in sections of the state where dairying is the ruling industry, the animal husbandmen of the University college of agriculture have crossed dairy cows with beef sires and outlined a plan of breeding which may tend to diversify even further the products of Badger farms.

Large Holstein cows, producing at least 6,000 pounds of milk a year, were mated with purebred Angus sires in tests which have been conducted for two years at the State Experiment station, Madison. The calves are uniformly black polled, having decided beef type characteristics, and could be marketed as baby beeves at 12 to 15 months of age.

"Several significant advantages are in favor of this cross," state J. G. Fuller and B. H. Roche, experimenters in charge of the study. Part of the herd can be milked by hand and the remainder deviated as nurse cows for beef production. Dairymen, who do not raise calves could by using the proper type of beef sire, sell their calves to farmers who market baby beef. It would be a short step to shift a herd of grade cows to beef production.

URGES PLENTY OF MINERAL IN FEED

Helps to Build Bone and Acts as a Reserve for Day of Need, Specialist Says

Madison—(AP)—Bones are not mere framework for the animal body, G. Bohstedt, University of Wisconsin animal feeding specialist declared today.

This business of holding the body up and together is the principal duty of the bones, he said, as a matter of fact this is only one, although important, function. Bones are "not inert tissue by any means."

The bone marrow of the long bones is the seat of blood generation. It is at the ends of growing points of bones where there is a great deal of activity, for here the lime, phosphorus, magnesium and other minerals are laid down, making up growth, or acting as reserve against the day of need.

"When the ration does not supply adequate mineral matter for time, the bones dole out minerals for the rest of the body tissues. The bones then by the use of beef sires used in these experiments.

"Beef producers may find it profitable to keep a limited number of good-sized, grade, dairy cows and mate them with the beef herd sire to produce calves for baby beef and then use the dairy cows for milk production," he said.

In feeding trials, a lot of cross-bred steers made an average daily gain of 2.23 pounds. The average cost of 100 pounds of gain was $13.07 at current prices, the steers paid an average profit over feed costs of $4.13, and returned $1.25 for every bushel of corn included in their ration.

SCOTCH DEVELOPING METHOD TO PREVENT CREAM FROM SOURING

Rapid Heating Under Pressure Is Supposed to Do the Trick, Report Says

BY BANCROFT N. TIMMONS

Washington—A new system for the treatment of cream to prevent souring is being put into use in Glasgow, Scotland, according to a report received at the Department of Commerce today from the Consul, Leslie E. Woods, Glasgow. The secret of the process is reported to be rapid heating under pressure.

In the new process the cream, after separation, is quickly raised to a temperature of 235 degrees Fahrenheit and then is cooled to between 60 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit. This treatment has been compared to a bank, receiving and dispensing continuously, but carry a variable reserve. When this is exhausted, the crash is certain and disastrous in a physical as in a financial way.

Mr. Bohstedt gave these side-lights on the duty of bones in connection with a discussion of deficiencies in mineral feeds for farm animals.

Generally animals do not give unmistakable signs of mineral starvation until costly damage has been done, he declared. "This is the insidiousness of a mineral deficiency as compared with a protein deficiency in a ration."

The various percentages of food values, livestock losses, and experimental successes were given by the expert with many other figures on deficiencies in the mineral ration of farm animals and recommendations on the types of minerals to be fed and how.

ment is claimed to keep cream sweet for six or eight days in warm weather, and as long as ten days in cool weather. Further, it is claimed that this cream may be kept for six weeks in vacuum churns and then, exposed in open containers, will again remain sweet for about a week.

Attention was focused on this process, it is stated, on account of the new regulation of the Scottish Board of Health prohibiting the use of preservatives in certain foods, including cream. Cream pastries are consumed in large quantities in Glasgow, and as the supply of cream is a day's distance from the city, the absence of preservative endangers its sweetness. In fact, with the preservative, the cream remained sweet four or even five days, which was the time that customarily elapsed between production of the milk and consumption of the cream pastries.

The plant required for this process occupies a floor space 5 ft. by 7 ft. and costs $4,000. Two such machines are now in use, not at a dairy in Cummock, Ayrshire, Scotland, and the other in Ireland. The plant consists of four cylinders, into which the cream is pumped. In two of these the cream is raised to its maximum heat, 235 degrees Fahrenheit, with the pressure and heat scientifically balanced to prevent boiling, and in the other two cooling chambers this temperature is reduced to 60 degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

FLEAS AND PESTS AT BERLIN INSECT SHOW

Berlin—(AP)—A prominent feature at an entomological exhibition in Berlin, at which insects from almost every part of the globe were displayed, was a special collection of many varieties of fleas and other intimate annoyances of humanity.

So plentiful were the contributions to the exhibit that there were not enough cases to hold all the specimens on hand and cigar boxes had to be turned into exhibition frames for the proper display of such an exceptional insectarium, of which some rare specimens were of considerable value.

This odd exhibition, intended solely for instructive purposes, was organized by a number of entomological societies of Berlin and environs and proved a great attraction, entire classes of school children coming to be initiated into the peculiarities of the insect world.

The Week of June 10-16 has been designated as "On Wisconsin Week" to promote our State's recreational and industrial advantages, to make Wisconsin a greater state in which to live than it is today.

That the Tourist Trade has already become one of our largest industries is evidenced by the 1927 report of the Highway Commission. It yields these very interesting facts:

Altho the number of persons per car decreased in 1927, the average expenditure per car entering Wisconsin in 1927 increased to $97.80. The average stay is 9.9 days thus making the average expenditure per person per day $2.82. These figures show that last year the total estimated tourists traffic industry in Wisconsin reached the huge figure of $123,152,505.

The number of cars entering in the state per season is over one and one-half times the number licensed in the state this year. They traveled 713,937,500 miles or wore out 20,398 cars, figuring the average life of a car as 35,000 miles. Tourists paid $915,916.66 or 17% of last year's gas tax.

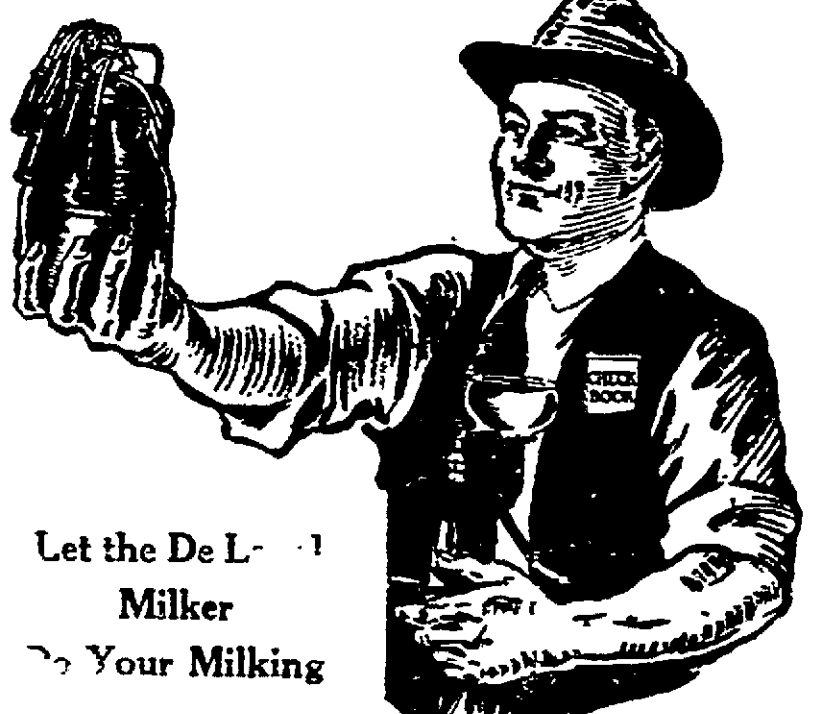

This brief summary of one of Wisconsin's newest and largest industries shows another source of wealth in the Great Wisconsin Market. Sell in this market through the 31 members of the Daily Newspaper League. Secretary H. L. Davis at Appleton will send those interested complete information about the League's unusual advertising service. Write.

BROADCASTERS SLATE TO GO AUGUST 1 TO BE GIVEN HEARINGS

Little Hope Is Seen That Changes Will Be Made in 162 Slated to Be Eliminated

Washington—(AP)—Although they will be given a hearing, few of the 162 Broadcasting stations recently notified that they were slated for elimination August 1, will be allowed to remain on the air after that date, members of the Federal Radio Commission have indicated.

The commission, after a thorough study of the performance records of these stations, says it is convinced they are not being operated in the public interest. Many of them have been giving incomplete program service, members of the commission say, some of the smaller stations operating only one day a week. Others listed for elimination are said to have caused interference by wandering off their assigned frequencies and by exceeding their power allotments. Some broadcasters have failed to employ licensed operators.

At the hearings on the applications of these stations for renewal of licenses which begin July 9, the burden of service proof will be on the owners. In a letter to these broadcasters, Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the commission, says: "As the hearing unless you can make public an affirmative showing that public interest, convenience or necessity will be served by the granting of your application, it will be finally denied."

Further indication that the commission intends to decimate the stations is contained in the statement by Judge Robinson that "Congress by the so-called Davis amendment has directed the commission to deal with the matter of a surplus of stations with a firm hand and the commission proposed to do so."

He says that, after a critical study, it is his firm opinion the Radio Act is not subject to successful attack and that all the regulatory powers granted the commission may be constitutionally exercised. The judge declares, however, that the broadcasters and listening public will be given a square deal by the commission.

Meanwhile, the commission is preparing to resist possible lawsuits and injunction processes which may be instituted by owners of eliminated stations. It is planned to have three attorneys represent the commission in the courts.

The station reduction of August 1 is only one of the preliminary steps to the adoption of the new allocation plan, the commission says.

FAKE WAR VETS ASK RED CROSS FOR AID

Officers Pestered by Beggars Who Are Unable to Prove Claims

Red Cross officers here have been pestered by men posing as disabled veterans in order to get aid from the local Red Cross office, according to M. H. Small, chairman of the Outagamie County branch of the American Red Cross.

Over a dozen cases of imposters working game have been called to the attention of Mr. Small within the past few months. Beggars from as far west as the Pacific coast who have been touring the country, run out of funds, and want to get home, apply to the local office with elaborately embroidered stories.

Not one authentic case of a soldier in need has been brought before the aid bureau this year, according to Mr. Small. He said that disabled soldiers are not being turned into the street, unclothed, hungry, or in need of medical care, but that precautions must be taken against professional beggars, who are referred to Alfred C. Bossier and told to bring a letter from him testifying as to their eligibility for aid. Mr. Bossier has a complete classified record of ex-soldiers. When the imposters are told to comply with this formality they never return, said Mr. Small.

Good Fishing Abounds Near President's Camp

BY B. A. CLAFIN

Thousands of tourists will crowd into Douglas county this summer because of the fact that President Coolidge will be there. The great majority of them will be disappointed if the sole object of their trip is to get a glimpse of the president. They may be allowed to fish the Brule river providing they keep their distance from the august person.

A much better way to have a try at seeing him would be to make the Hayward district their headquarters. From there an hour's run will bring them into the Brule country. Then, after they are done with their sight-seeing, they can return to one of the finest regions in all Wisconsin to do their fishing. For muskies, the lakes drained by the Chippewa river cannot be beaten. And the river itself at Granger's place is a wonderful stretch of water that harbors the big tigers as well as other species of game fish. From that point other excellent waters such as Sissabaga, Upper and Lower Twin and dozens of like producing lakes can be fished as desired.

Those who will make fishing a secondary proposition with sight-seeing predominating, need fear no dull days. They may drive as many miles every day as the care to and see a new sight ever minute that they will long remember. The St. Croix river has delta equally as beautiful as those of the Wisconsin or of the Wolf. A drive to the St. Croix falls will bring one there. They, about five miles from the town of Melton they can visit the finest waterfalls of the whole state—Copper Falls and Tyler's Fork Falls. My advice to all is to see these two places without fail for this may be about the last opportunity they will have.

The power companies have bought up all the land on both sides of the river and it does not require a very great stretch of imagination to picture the fate of these two remaining beauty spots. They are doomed and in their place will stand bleak piles of concrete, an oozing remnant of a once mighty river below the obstruction, and an immense stagnant body of deadwater above. Then the tourists who leave a hundred million dollars in Wisconsin every year will turn to Minnesota and other states.

A trip to the Apostle Islands is well worth the time of anyone looking for real sights. A short drive from the Brule river country will bring the tourists to Bayfield. A few miles from there a boat trip to the islands can be made and, while the wave-washed rocks of brown sandstone are admired and photographed, a line to which is attached a proper lure may be dropped over and the fisherman may hook one of the big Lake Trout. He is gamy and, if not too fat, is one of the very best table fish we have.

DRILL 352-FOOT WELL ON NEW LOCATION OF VALLEY MILK CO.

All Modern Machinery Will Be Installed at New Home

Building operations on the new plant of the Valley Milk company, on Victoria-st at the intersection with W. Lawrence-st, are progressing rapidly. A well 352 feet deep has been drilled and yields 100 gallons a minute. The water is to be pumped with compressed air.

The buildings being constructed include the main plant to be a two-story structure of Haystack block, 76 feet long by 36 feet wide and a garage 100 feet long for cars, wagons, and horses.

All modern creamery equipment is to be installed including an ice machine, a large separator, bottle washing machines, and other fixtures. The well to be used for cooling and washing purposes was drilled by Jacob Koss, Appleton, in 26 days. At a depth of 90 feet rock was struck and the remaining 257 feet was through solid rock.

It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by August 1.

POUR CONCRETE FLOORS FOR NEW FREIGHT DEPOT

Concrete floors are being laid and the roof of the store house section of the new Chicago and Northwestern freight depot is being erected this week. An elaborate system of doors also is being installed. They are controlled by weights which, when released, cause the lower part of the door to swing in and the upper part to roll along an elevated platform. This type of door eliminates accidents caused by opening and closing, and also gets them out of the way of employees wheeling freight through the building.

Midsummer Apparel Just Arrived From New York

Ensembles of Printed Linen or Pique $15

Now that Fashion has settled the question and it is definitely to be a "cotton summer", the ensemble of pique or linen will be worn by smartly dressed women everywhere. It consists of a sleeveless frock, usually of printed pique or linen combined with white, and a full-length coat. In soft shades of rose, blue, green and orchid on a ground of white. Patterns are usually modernistic. $15.

For Midsummer Wear Transparent Velvet Coats $29.50 and $39.50

One would certainly not choose one of these delightful transparent velvet coats for warmth, but just as certainly every woman wants at least one of them for its undeniable smartness.

A full length coat lined with crepe de chine or georgette. It is charming over a frock of georgette or printed crepe. The transparent velvet coat may be had in black, palmetto green, powder blue, orchid, brown. Chantilly, mauve wood and gold.

Although fashioned of this rich and exquisite fabric, these new coats are not at all costly. They are $29.50 and $39.50.

One of our buyers of wearing apparel has just returned from New York where she selected the frocks and coats that are smartest for summer. Cotton—or rather tub frocks and ensembles—are to be so constantly worn for daytime use that she spent much time choosing the cleverest styles in linen, pique, dimity, and organdy. Gay, colorful prints and high-colored organdies, lace trimmed or embroidered, have arrived. Full-length coats of white or pastel flannel are lovely with summer frocks.

For other occasions, for which the sports frock or the linen ensemble is a bit too informal, transparent velvet coats and frocks of printed chiffon have been chosen. Drop in tomorrow to see them.

Youthful Organdy Bodice Frocks in a Rainbow of Colors $10

In all the dainty colors that one wants to wear in summer and in such amazingly lovely combinations of color. The slender, youthful bodice, sometimes folded over in surplice style, is a feature of these frocks and their lace-edged collars, big bows and embroideries are very feminine. $10.

Dotted Swiss Frocks $10 and $15

A more tailored style prevails in these new smart dotted swiss frocks of orchid, navy, rose and other becoming colors. Just right for warm days. $10 and $15.

Pastel Flannel Coats $17.50

The simplest of summer frocks will be glorified by a chic flannel coat in white or one of the pretty pastel shades. There are others in basket weave and chevot, very finely tailored and very simply trimmed with novelty stitching and tuckings. A stole collar softens the neckline. $17.50.

Other new and unusually smart models at $19.50 and $29.50.

DOROTHY GRAY

Helps You Correct Enlarged Pores

DOROTHY GRAY has made two preparations which have been splendidly successful in overcoming an enlarged pore condition. Pore Lotion is a clear fragrant liquid, which can be parted on all over your face if your skin is oily. Its regular use corrects and reduces enlarged pores. $2.00, $4.00.

Pore Paste is a soothing medicated cream which can be left on all night. It brings the pores back to normal, even though the pressing out of blackheads has left them greatly enlarged. $1.00.
